GIVES MILLIONS IN OIL SECURITIES TO BENEFIT CHARITIES

Donations of $25,000,000 From John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Reported as Roosevelt's "Wealth Tax" Measure Passes Senate—Passing of Name From Management Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (P).—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today reported making a gift of more than $25,000,000 in oil securities less than a fortnight after President Roosevelt's "wealth tax" message. The Securities Commission was told that unnamed "individuals and charitable organizations" received 2,100,000 shares of Socony Vacuum Corporation common stock.

This gift, made June 28, reduced Rockefeller's holdings in the three major oil companies—Socony, Standard of New Jersey and Standard of California—to $180,000,000.

MAY BE RETIRING

In this gift, bringing Rockefeller's disposals of oil holdings since the first of the year to $75,000,000, Wall Street read a possible passing of a great name from active management in the petroleum industry.

The commission report gave no indication whether the famous financier made his gift at this time in expectation that Congress would vote higher taxes on wealth. Contributions of a character usually take some time to plan, and the programme may have been arranged prior to the President's message.

ESCAPES LARGE TAX

The market value of the stock on June 28 was about $27,300,000. Today, because of market declines, it is worth about $25,000,000. The Senate tax bill would increase the tax on such a gift if made to a single individual by an amount estimated upward of $1,250,000. The tax in June, if going to a single individual, would have exceeded $10,000,000, but would be much lower if divided, while charitable contributions are largely exempt.

Rockefeller gave 85,000 shares, now valued at about $1,000,000, of this same stock to an unidentified "educational and scientific corporation" in March. His holdings are 3

PUSHES DRIVE AGAINST JEWS

Thousands Hear Leader of Anti-Semitic Campaign Assail German Hebrews

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (P).—Julius Streicher, spearhead of Germany's anti-Semitic drive, bitterly assailed Jews tonight and announced that the Nazi fight against them will "continue until all humanity understands the problem."

His widely heralded speech was a rambling one. It was widely applauded by 25,000 listeners in the huge Berlin Sportsplatz, while Jews remained in seclusion.

DENOUNCES REPORTS

Denouncing foreign reports of anti-Jewish disturbances in Germany, he suggested foreign countries instead "report about lynching justice in America."

The Nazi leader assailed inter-racial marriage between Jews and Gentiles, asserting it should be punished "with heavy penitentiary service."

OVERFLOW MEETING

Streicher spoke for two hours and a half in the Sportsplatz and then rushed to Tennishof to address an overflow meeting there which, in the meanwhile, had listened to his first speech through loudspeakers. Thousands stood outside the hall while heavy police guards pickedeted the neighborhood. Introductory speakers, however, guaranteed that no trouble would result and that those who predicted otherwise would be fooled.

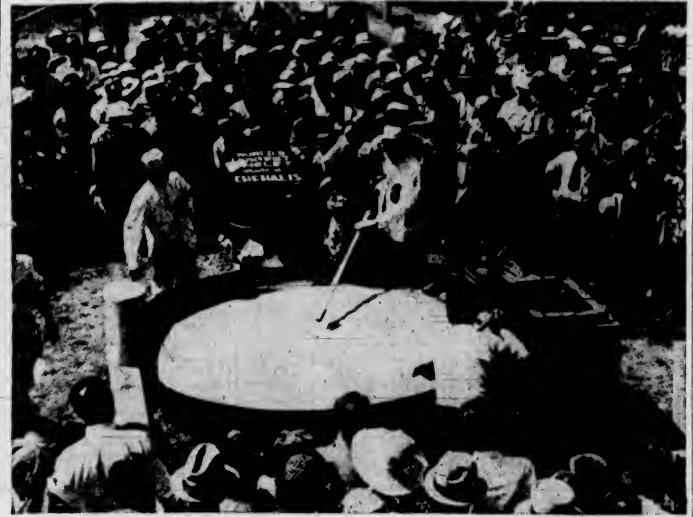

WANTS POLICY OF LAND SETTLEMENT

Stevens Says Immigration Unwise at Present, But Policies Should Be Considered

SASKATOON, Aug. 15 (P).—A Canadian land settlement policy was advocated by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction party leader, here tonight. He also asserted "it would be foolish for Canada to embark on a great policy of immigration under present conditions." When conditions "improve to such an extent that Canadians are again actively employed, immigration policies could be considered."

But, said the Reconstruction leader, he believed municipalities, particularly of the West, who had areas of taxation on farm land, might very well consider a land settlement scheme. They could agree with farmers in arrears to allow them half their land free of taxation. On the other half persons who were anxious to get back to agricultural life might be settled.

Dupre Holds Four Portfolios While Cabinet Shuffled

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (P).—One of the busiest men in the Government during yesterday's Cabinet shuffle was Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General. Mr. Dupre, who represents in the Cabinet the great mass of population in Eastern Quebec, and finds it quite a large job in itself, was for a time yesterday at once Solicitor-General, acting Minister of Justice, acting Minister of Marine and acting Postmaster-General.

New Floods Destructive In Alberta

EDMONTON, Aug. 15 (P).—New floods last night completed the destruction of waterfront buildings at Slave Lake Town and the settlement was again threatened with devastation. People of the inundated districts of Slave Lake, Louise, and Peace River, took to the boats when the first floods drove them from their homes, were subjected to fresh hardships in the cold rain.

Repair work which had taken weeks to complete was wiped out along the Northern Alberta railways. The town of Peace River, which has suffered heavily from flood damage was again divided in two as Peace Creek went on another rampage.

Tall Tales Coming as Gold Rush Pioneers Stream Into Seattle

Men of Adventure Stringing Their Longbows for Shafts of Fiction Far Stranger Than Truth—Monstrous Liars Merrily Mendacious

SEATTLE, Aug. 15 (P).—"There will be some elegant lying done during the stampede," D. E. Griffiths, president of the international sourdough reunion, promised today as pioneer gold rushers of Alaska and the Yukon streamed into town for a three-day convention.

A feature of the convention are the competitions, formal and informal, of the Ancient Order of Prevaricators.

KEEN COMPETITION

While there are a lot of Canadians here or en route who can do rather nifty prevaricating when they put their whole heart and imagination into it, the California delegation is pinning its hopes on T. W. B. Bucholz, of Long Beach, acclaimed by Earl Knight, of The Alaska Weekly of Seattle, as one of the most stupendous prevaricators in the world.

Tales of ice worms, the big black snow of '97 or '98 or 1900 or thereabouts, tales of the gold nuggets lying thick as pebbles on the beach and big as wash boilers, reports of the upland-flying river "somewhere north of 68"—all are due for re-

Would Repeat Clauses in Purchase Law Which Authorize Nationalization of White Metal, Tax Trading Profits and Require Licences for Both Imports and Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (P).—A return to open silver trading in the United States was voted today by the Senate without debate. An amendment was added to the Tax Bill which Senator Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.), said would "bring the silver market to America."

LONG MAY RUN FOR PRESIDENT

Louisiana Senator Will Stand Unless Others He Favors Are Candidates

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (P).—Senator Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, announced his availability for the Presidency of the United States today, first, however, corraling his devotion behind a bristling stand of "ifs."

Long's declaration, confirming reports recently current in Washington, was made behind a barrage of colorful epithets peppering his observations of the new deal, former President Hoover, the Tax Bill, and his old foe, Senator J. T. Robinson, of Arkansas, and Pat Harrison, of Mississippi.

WOULD SUPPORT BORAH

The Senator named several candidates he would be willing to support, but was particularly partial to Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, "the greatest lawyer since Daniel Webster."

"Senator Borah," Long declared, "would be the only President to carry every state in the Union. If he ran against Roosevelt it would be a race. I could beat him the same man in the Senate."

Others Long would be willing to support are Senators Wheeler, of Montana; Capper and McGill, of Kansas; Norris, of Nebraska; Nye and Frazier, of North Dakota; Billings, of South Dakota, and Thomas, of Oklahoma.

MOVE AGITATORS OUT ON TRUCKS

Peace Reigns Among Striking Idaho Pea Pickers After Martial Law Declared

DRIGGS, Idaho, Aug. 15 (P).—Known-agitators were loaded onto trucks by National Guard troops and moved out of the district, where a pea pickers strike caused a tie-up in the district's major industry this week and brought a declaration of martial law from Governor Ross.

Peace reigned in the fields for the first time in four days tonight, with 150 guardsmen from Boise and Twin Falls districts in full control.

Fifty suspected agitators were hastily loaded onto trucks by the guardsmen and moved to Sugar City and released. Little resistance was offered as the men were taken away, but they shouted that they would "sank at once."

British Importers Coming to Study Produce Industry

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (P).—A party of important British importers and merchants will arrive in Montreal this week-end to view at first hand in Eastern Canada the Canadian produce industry in its stages from the farmer to the shipper. Known as the "Maple Leaf Tour," it was organized by the Canadian Government.

BRIDGE SITE TRANSFERRED

Dominion Approves Westminster By-Law Ceding River Bed to B.C.

Deeding the river bed under the proposed Fraser River bridge, the Dominion Government has now removed the last obstacle between the Government of British Columbia and its desire to build a $3,500,000 traffic toll bridge at New Westminster, to take the place of the existing free bridge.

Premier Pattullo announced formally yesterday that Federal approval had been granted to a by-law passed on the recommendation of the New Westminster Harbor Board, which will convey to the Province the land under the bridge site. The Province itself is making arrangements for land required at the approaches, some of which may have to be bought from private hands.

Approval by the Governor-General in Council of the by-law transfer is accepted here as official approval of the project and is expected to be followed at once by issuance of a Federal certificate of approval for the site and the plans. The Province is preparing for an early start at the work, to be carried out by the Dominion Bridge Company.

Wiley Post And Rogers Head North

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 15 (P).—Wiley Post and Will Rogers left here today in Post's red monoplane for Point Barrow, the farthest North place in Alaska, jutting into the ice-strewn Arctic Ocean.

They took off from Fairbanks, but set the plane down on Harding Lake, fifty miles from there, and waited until weather reports, said dense fog at Point Barrow had cleared before they resumed their flight.

SHOCKED AT SEEING MAN IN OVERALLS

EDMONTON, Aug. 15 (P).—Neighbors telephoned the police "A man standing on the street in his underwear." An officer was sent out, and was he surprised. The man was wearing a white combination overall suit and an overcoat. "It's the first time these overalls have ever been mistaken for underwear," he told the police.

John Hart to Meet Ballinger in Final At Oak Bay Course

Victorian and Seattle Veteran Advance to Last Bracket in Seniors' Golf Tournament—Local Contender Disposes of Dr. Otis B. Wight

CAGING three birdies on the outgoing nine to assume a three up lead at the half-way distance, and then continuing his sensational golf on the home stretch, with the exception of two holes, where he slipped four strokes over par, Hon. John Hart, Victoria, marched into the final of the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament yesterday, at the Oak Bay Links, by defeating Dr. Otis B. Wight, southpaw shotmaker from Portland, in the semi-finals, two up.

Gaining a 3 and 1 decision from W. H. Abbott, Bellingham, champion of two seasons ago, Jack Ballinger, Seattle, earned the right to meet the British Columbia Minister of Finance in today's final over eighteen holes. They will tee off at 10 o'clock and one of the closest final in the tournament's history is expected.

Required by Mussolini to Provide for Enforcement of Economic Privileges in Ethiopia—British and Italian Delegates Find Positions Irreconcilable on Eve of Conference

Need of Expansion One of Italy's Main Arguments

PARIS, Aug. 15 (P).—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the tri-power conference, tonight informed the British representative, Anthony Eden, that Italy's minimum demand for peaceful settlement of her dispute with Ethiopia was occupation of Ethiopia by the Italian army.

Aloisi said Premier Mussolini would require this condition in order to provide for the enforcement of economic privileges.

Italy, he said, would not be able to accept the British plan for economic concessions in Ethiopia, unless Italy could make Ethiopia respect them. This, he said, would mean Italy must keep armed forces in the East African country.

INDUCED TO CALL

Aloisi was induced to call on Eden, it was learned, by Premier Laval after the Italian had refused to visit the British diplomat separately on the eve of the scheduled conference between delegates of the French, Italian and British Governments tomorrow.

After the meeting between the two, it was said in informed quarters that their positions were an "irreconcilable" as before the meeting. Premier Laval, convinced that peace in Africa and the political stability of Europe depend upon his efforts to get Britain and Italy to agree, talked with both Anthony Eden and Baron Pompeo Aloisi.

After one talk, Eden returned again to the Quai d'Orsay late in the afternoon and stressed that Britain is only prepared to consent to Italy's economic penetration of the African empire—not a political intervention.

The three—Laval, Eden and Aloisi

NOTED BANKER FATALLY HURT

Sir Basil Blackett Dies of Injuries Received When Car Struck by Train

GIESSEN, Germany, Aug. 15 (P).—Sir Basil Philpott Blackett, fifty-three, British financial expert and a director of the Bank of England, died today a few hours after a train struck the rear of his automobile. His companion, Fraulien Euen-trager, sixty, a school teacher and an old friend, was seriously injured. She was still unconscious tonight, suffering from internal injuries and a broken collarbone.

Sir Basil died in a hospital, where he was taken by railway doctors. Witnesses said he was traveling over a detour and just as he crossed an open track the train crashed into the rear of his automobile.

LEADER IN MANY FIELDS

LONDON, Aug. 15 (P).—British official and financial circles were shocked today by the news of the death of Sir Basil Blackett in a railroad crossing accident in Germany. He was one of the most eminent persons in the British financial world, had performed notable services for his country during the Great War, and was a leader in many fields. He visited Canada more than once, the last time in 1932 in an endeavor to work out a plan of closer co-operation between imperial and international communications companies.

CHOOSE THURSDAY FOR THANKSGIVING

Government Returning to Old Custom Providing for Separate Church Services

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (P).—When it was found necessary to rescind the order-in-council fixing October 14 as Thanksgiving day, in order that general elections might not be delayed any longer than that date, the Government decided to return for the nonce to the old custom of having the national thanksgiving on Thursday.

A large section of opinion, particularly in the religious field, has held that the day of thanksgiving should be removed from Sunday as much as possible so that separate and distinct services of thanks might be held. Thursday is the fixed thanksgiving in the United States and until a few years ago was the choice in Canada.

Municipal Union to Discuss Revision in Present Tax System

Convention at Harrison Hot Springs Expected to Be Most Important in History of Organization—Concrete Proposals Being Prepared

REVISION of the whole basis of municipal taxation is expected to be the major topic at the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to be held at Harrison Hot Springs on September 11.

A preliminary draft of the resolutions to be discussed has been filed with the city clerk here, and although the question of revising taxation methods is not included among these motions, it is known that Victoria and Vancouver delegates in particular will bring up the issue.

Mayor David Leeming is even now going into the matter thoroughly with a view to bringing forward suggestions that not only will meet the approval of Vancouver and other cities, but all the municipalities throughout the province.

IMPORTANT SESSION

This convention probably will be one of the most important sessions in the history of the union, since a determined effort to secure redress for many alleged wrongs will be made. Similar attempts have been made in the past, but the effort this year is expected to take the form of concrete proposals to be placed before the Provincial Legislature for consideration.

The Greater Victoria area this year has contributed a lion's share of the resolutions. Equilibrium is seeking the support of the union for legislation which will return beer license fees to municipalities where beer parlors are situated. The claim is that wherever beer parlors are located, extra policing has to be provided, and the municipality gets no extra revenue from the Province for this expense.

VICTORIA MOTIONS

Victoria has several motions on the agenda. One seeks to take away the power now invested in the Commissioner of Provincial Police, which enables him to cancel a motorist's license without the latter first having been given the opportunity of a hearing before a magistrate.

Another motion seeks support of the union to legislation proposed to strengthen health regulations. The city wants the right to inspect and examine all persons handling food for sale to determine whether a suspect may have a contagious or infectious disease.

"Tax exemption on all municipally-owned property also is sought. This would mean that Victoria, for instance, could not be taxed by Oak Bay for the Willow's Fair Grounds, or any other property it might own in an adjoining municipality.

Oak Bay, in a motion it has presented, says that while it is in favor of a contributory pension scheme, it urges the total abandonment of the present system whereby municipalities are called on to pay pensions for service dating from before the initiation of the contributory scheme.

Launcey asks that the definition of residence be redefined in the Municipal Act so that the question of relief may be clarified.

PROTEST CHARGES

A strong protest from the union to the Government against increased charges to municipalities for Government services, such as searches for title in the Land Registry Office, is urged by Nanaimo.

From the Union of Kootenay Municipalities comes a recommendation that the Government be petitioned to grant no plebiscite on the beer parlor question in any municipality before it has first been determined how many beer parlor licenses are to be issued in any particular municipality. This is designed to avoid indiscriminate issuance of beer licenses.

Duncan urges the union to secure an amendment to the Municipal Act to enable municipalities to regulate traffic similar to the cities of Victoria and Vancouver.

LOWER PENALTY

The Municipality of Matsqui is urging that the penalty of tax arrears be reduced to 4 per cent in view of the reductions in interest rates allowed on savings accounts and Government loans. The same municipality also seeks the right to grant a discount for prompt payment of current taxes.

The only definite action so far taken toward securing a revision in the basis of municipal taxation comes from Saanich, which suggests the imposition of an occupation tax on real property to be paid by the occupant thereof. This means that the person renting a home would have to share in the taxes of the municipality as well as the property owner.

DEATH CLAIMS OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. Mary Ann Cooper Succumbs to Long Illness—Funeral Tomorrow

Days when small one-room log cabins dotted the entire lower mainland, when Victoria was in its infancy, will be recalled with the passing of Mrs. Mary Ann Cooper, aged eighty-two years.

Mrs. Cooper died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon following a lengthy illness. She was the widow of William Cooper. Previous to her death there were four generations of the family living in Victoria.

Mrs. Cooper was born here on April 27, 1853, shortly after her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Porter, came from England aboard the Ss. Norman Morrison. Mr. Porter came out for the Hudson's Bay Company. He farmed for some time in the Colwood area.

LIVED ON FARM

Just over a year after Mrs. Cooper's birth, her mother passed away and her father returned to England. James Porter, her elder brother, was sent to school in Victoria, while she and her younger sister, Sarah, were taken to Deak's Farm in North Saanich. Mrs. Cooper often related how trips from North Saanich to the city were among her greatest treats.

As girls, Mrs. Cooper and her sister attended Burr Boarding School, which was on the present site of the Central School. Three generations of the family attended Central School.

PROMINENT WORKER

The late Mrs. Cooper was widely known in the Lutton district. She was an honorary member of the Lutton Women's Institute, and was instrumental in helping to establish the Lutton Hall. During the war she inaugurated weekly dances for the schoolhouse to secure funds for the Red Cross.

Up until a few years ago Mrs. Cooper took a prominent part in reunions of pioneers. In "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island," by N. de Bertram Lugin, the following is written: "The little cottage she presides over is in the pink of neatness and cleanliness, as is her garden. She does her own cooking and makes a glass of wine out of wild blackberries, raspberries, and currants, wine of a wonderful color and sparkling tinge."

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Mrs. Cooper is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Trace, Lutton, and Mrs. Robert Lugin, Lutton, 1011 Princess Avenue, Victoria; two sons, Thomas Craigie, Lutton, and David Craigie, Vancouver; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, and nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

June 30 were 2,852,570 shares, worth about $1,200,000. In addition, other commission reports show he held 2,142,422 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common, valued at nearly $100,000,000, and 1,306,825 shares of Standard Oil of California, valued at $45,700,000.

Last December, Rockefeller disposed of 600,700 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock, but the commission report did not disclose whether this was sale, transfer or gift.

EXEMPT FROM REPORTS

The June gift in Socony shares so reduced his holdings in that company that the law will not require him to continue to report changes at present reports to the directors, officers and holders of more than 10 per cent of a corporation's stock.

Rockefeller's holdings in Standard Oil of New Jersey and Standard Oil of California also are below the 10 per cent level.

The Rockefeller family fortune has been estimated at from $500,000,000 to $2,500,000,000.

SENATE PASSES BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP).—The Senate today passed a bill to strip the "wealth tax" from a 57 to 22 ballot. The action stirred prospects of adjournment before next week is out.

Only two days of debate preceded the vote to take an estimated $250,000,000 from million-dollar incomes, large corporations, estates and gifts. Senator R. M. La Follette (Progressive, Wisconsin), two efforts to boost taxes on small incomes were crushed by 3-to-1 majorities.

FOR PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

A deputy minister of the interior and a minister without portfolio, to give Prince Edward Island representation in the Cabinet, remain to complete the long list of appointments being discussed of this week.

It is thought likely that W. Chester McClure, who represented Queens in the last Parliament, will be selected to represent the Island Province.

The new ministers were busy today acquainting themselves with their new duties. They attended a short Cabinet council in the morning and returned to the East Block after lunch to pose with the Prime Minister for still and talking pictures.

STANDING IN SENATE

Today's appointment brings the Senate standing to sixty-three opponents of Conservative Governments, thirty-two appointed by Liberal Governments and one vacancy.

A physician and druggist, practicing in Lewis, Dr. Fortin first entered Federal politics when he unsuccessfully contested the 1928 general elections. He was elected in 1930. Born at Lewis in 1878, Dr. Fortin is in his fifty-eighth year.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies as applied to sore and painful piles are only local in effect and do not reach to true circulatory cause?

Why Piles may "come back" even after a first removal by cutting?

Do you know the cause of Piles internally?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. J. S. Leonard, known as HEM-ROID, and sold with your money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by relieving congested circulation and helps to heal and restore the sore surfaces.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and other good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.

WOULD RESTORE OPEN TRADING IN SILVER

Another Senate development was a resolution introduced by Senator "Fay Pittman" (D. Nev.) to authorize a special committee of five to confer with Morgenthau and study the effect of the silver buying program—here and abroad. Its approval was expected.

HOUSE MAY OPPOSE

The Treasury was reported unfavorable to the McCarran amendment, preferring to keep control of silver in this country. Some quarters forecast its rejection by the House. Open silver markets disappeared when President Roosevelt nationalized the metal a year ago.

The silver purchase law directs buying until Treasury stocks reach one-third the gold supply or the price reaches $1.29 an ounce.

RELIEF CAMPS TO HAVE VOTE

All Registered Voters in Relief Camps in B.C. Can Exercise Franchise

Registered voters in British Columbia and Federal relief camps about the province will have their votes at the coming Federal election if they are on the voters' list. If not registered on the list they will not be able to vote, as the final time for review has now gone by. The men will vote where registered, unless they have already secured transfer of their names to other polling divisions. It was explained yesterday by Sydney Child, returning officer for this riding.

Mr. Child received official confirmation from Ottawa of October 14 as the polling date. From this it follows that on the preceding Thursday, Friday and Saturday, between October 10, 11 and 12, advance polls will be taken for those citizens granted this privilege. The general polling day falls on a Monday, as required by statute. Polling hours will be from 8 in the morning until 6 in the evening.

PROCLAMATION

The returning officer sent out notices of the official election proclamation yesterday for printing, and these will be posted about the riding within forty-eight hours.

The task of recording some 29,000 ballots, if all people vote, in 105 polling divisions in Victoria, will be a sizeable undertaking in itself. To facilitate matters on election day, the public is asked to verify their polling divisions by reference to the slips left by enumerators when the list was compiled.

From present indications there will be three candidates in the field in Victoria certain, with strong probability of a fourth.

REPORT BANDITS KILL JOURNALIST

Dispatch Says Captors Keep Word to Slay Manchester Guardian's Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A Reuters ("British News Agency") dispatch from Peking reported today that Garch Jones, British journalist and former secretary to David Lloyd George, who was captured by bandits near Kalien, Chahar Province, Inner Mongolia, a fortnight ago, had been killed by his captors.

Gareth Jones, correspondent for The Manchester Guardian, was seized on July 29 with Herbert Mueller, German journalist, and held for $40,000 ransom, arms and ammunition.

Mueller was released August 1 to negotiate for the ransom of Jones. When Mueller was released he was warned that, unless the ransom for Jones was paid, the British journalist would be killed. The amount had been reduced to $20,000.

POLICE HUNTING TWO HOLDUP MEN AT COBBLE HILL

Cobble Hill district is being combed by Provincial Police for two armed men who held up King Lee, Chinese vegetable peddler, in his home and robbed him of $40 and two watches, about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Although police were notified shortly afterwards by the victim, they were supplied with only a vague description of the men, who wore masks. The home of the Chinese is near Cobble Hill station.

Police sent patrols out from Duncan and Victoria to search the highway within a short time of the robbery, but failed to pick up any suspicious characters.

CABER AVAILABLE

Edward White has whittled a 100-pound caber out of a telephone pole and athletes who would like to practice with it may arrange to do so through Archie McKinnon, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. or by applying to Mr. White.

Events at the Highland Games will also include piping contests and Highland dancing of every description. There will be six judges for the piping and four for the dancing. Pipe-Major Donald Cameron yesterday was appointed one of the judges.

There will be sixteen field events at the games, including running, shot putting, quoit pitching and a tug-of-war. Mr. White, Mr. McKinnon and J. C. Dows are in charge of the track and field meet.

Entries may be filed at the Tourist Trade Development Association in the Arcade Building. Entries have been coming in at the rate of four from Vancouver to one local, with others from Seattle, the interior of British Columbia and points as far east as Calgary and Winnipeg.

FOR PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

A deputy minister of the interior and a minister without portfolio, to give Prince Edward Island representation in the Cabinet, remain to complete the long list of appointments being discussed of this week.

It is thought likely that W. Chester McClure, who represented Queens in the last Parliament, will be selected to represent the Island Province.

The new ministers were busy today acquainting themselves with their new duties. They attended a short Cabinet council in the morning and returned to the East Block after lunch to pose with the Prime Minister for still and talking pictures.

STANDING IN SENATE

Today's appointment brings the Senate standing to sixty-three opponents of Conservative Governments, thirty-two appointed by Liberal Governments and one vacancy.

A physician and druggist, practicing in Lewis, Dr. Fortin first entered Federal politics when he unsuccessfully contested the 1928 general elections. He was elected in 1930. Born at Lewis in 1878, Dr. Fortin is in his fifty-eighth year.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies as applied to sore and painful piles are only local in effect and do not reach to true circulatory cause?

Why Piles may "come back" even after a first removal by cutting?

Do you know the cause of Piles internally?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. J. S. Leonard, known as HEM-ROID, and sold with your money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by relieving congested circulation and helps to heal and restore the sore surfaces.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and other good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.

WOULD RESTORE OPEN TRADING IN SILVER

Another Senate development was a resolution introduced by Senator "Fay Pittman" (D. Nev.) to authorize a special committee of five to confer with Morgenthau and study the effect of the silver buying program—here and abroad. Its approval was expected.

HOUSE MAY OPPOSE

The Treasury was reported unfavorable to the McCarran amendment, preferring to keep control of silver in this country. Some quarters forecast its rejection by the House. Open silver markets disappeared when President Roosevelt nationalized the metal a year ago.

The silver purchase law directs buying until Treasury stocks reach one-third the gold supply or the price reaches $1.29 an ounce.

Finds Old Report of Quintuplets Having Lived in Australia

Record of Nearly Sixty Years Ago Says Five Children of German Parents All Lived and Enjoyed Good Health

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (P)—Possibility the Dionne quintuplets are not the first set of quintuplets ever to survive was expressed here tonight following discovery in a house of an old scrapbook kept by the late Alfred Hirst, traveler, soldier, policeman and collector of curiosities.

The clipping adds: "All of them are alive and are said to be very healthy."

TWO PAIRS OF TWINS
According to the clipping Mrs. Schuler was a huge woman, "standing six feet four inches in her stockings and turning the scales at 244 pounds—7 ounces." She had already given birth to five children, including two pairs of twins.

The father-of-the-five is said to have sat down stupidly and mechanically gazing from one infant to the other, simply said: "Mein Gott, mein Gott." There were three boys and two girls. All of them are alive and said to be very healthy."

EQUINE MALADY STILL SPREADS

Widespread Fatal Disease May Be Due to "Forage Poisoning," Officials Say

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15 (P)—A strange equine malady sweeping through Manitoba and Saskatchewan, causing at least 250 deaths, may be "forage poisoning," and not encephalomyelitis as previously believed, it was suggested tonight.

The spread of the disease, which paralyzes the brains of horses and has attained epidemic proportions, continued unabated. Supplies of a curative serum were exhausted here, and demands of veterinarians in all parts of Manitoba went unfilled.

SEEKING CAUSE
In a telegram to the Municipal Council of Rockwood, Man., Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, said the disease "may be forage poisoning," was not communicable and that quarantine measures were not necessary. His department was endeavoring to determine definitely the cause of the disease, he said.

In Regina, airplanes were being considered as a means of rushing supplies of the serum to rural districts as further cases of the disease were reported. A valuable stallion owned by G. Hahn, of Belleplaine, and six horses in the Duvall area have died, it was reported.

DAIRY CATTLE AFFECTED
From Griffin, Sask., it was reported a mysterious malady had struck dairy cattle in that area. Ten head of valuable cows were found dead on a pasture in a pasture of Charlton Brothers' Dairy Farm there. Not one survived. The stomach contents of one cow was sent to Regina for analysis.

ARMED OCCUPATION IS MINIMUM DEMAND

Italy will formally open the negotiations tomorrow. They will revolve around the tri-power treaty of 1906, by which Ethiopia was divided into spheres of economic influence, and Great Britain, France and Italy pledged themselves to protect the integrity of Ethiopia.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia had a chance to present his side to Laval through Tecla Hawariat, his minister to Paris. Hawariat saw Laval shortly before Laval's second talk with Eden.

EXPECTED ARBITRATOR
Nicholas Politis, who is expected to be officially appointed as a fifth arbitrator on the Laval dispute, also conferred with Laval.

Arguments presented to Laval by Aloisi for Italy's programme included: Italy must protect its African colonies against a "wild and dangerous" nation (Ethiopia) by disarming it; Italy must expand its colonies as Great Britain and France have done; Italy is sorely in need of raw materials and must develop her own supplies.

OFFERS REASSURANCE
ROME, Aug. 15 (CP-Havas).—Premier Mussolini, mindful of tri-power talks in Paris over the threat of war with Ethiopia, tonight offered indirect reassurance to Britain and France that Italy in no way views the colonies of these powers with a predatory eye.

The assurance came through what was taken as an officially inspired article in his newspaper, The Popolo d'Italia, at Milan, which Il Duce founded in the days preceding his advent as dictator.

Italy has no intention, the article said, of "disturbing either France or Great Britain in the possession of their colonies or mandates."

It said Italy turned to Ethiopia for expansion in order not to hurt her former allies in their colonial possessions.

LONDON UNEASY
LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP).—Official London watchers—the diplomatic discussions on the Ethiopian problem in Paris today with much uneasiness.

Efforts were made to counteract the press reports in Italy that Britain is using baiting tactics to prevent war. Informed quarters denied Italian reports that London would threaten to withdraw from European affairs in the event of an Italy-Ethiopian war.

The Government is keeping the question of an arms export ban on Ethiopia to one side until it sees the outcome at Paris. There are many hints that the ban will be raised in the event of failure of the conference.

CONDITIONS IN SOUTH IMPROVED
Louisiana Sugar-Cane Growers Show Certain Discontent Over Government Restrictions
Certain discontent exists among Louisiana State sugar cane growers over the United States Government restricting cultivation. Robert L. Waller, big sugar plantation owner from Ellendale, intimates during the recent visit at the Douglas Hotel with his wife.
Economic conditions in the State, however, are considerably better than they were a year ago, Mr. Waller said. Although he was not an ardent supporter of Senator Huey Long, virtual dictator of the State, Mr. Waller said he had to give much credit to the Kingfish for his successful efforts to benefit the State.
On Mr. Waller's plantation there are thirty-nine negro workers and their after-work antics prove a great delight to the owner and Mrs. Waller. By the negroes themselves, Mr. Waller was chosen judge for settlement of all disputes, domestic and otherwise. However, the negroes are exceedingly cautious and are always on the alert for fear he should take advantage of them, the visitor explained with a laugh.
Mr. and Mrs. Waller drove here in their own car. They traveled about the Lower Island during the first of the week and were shown the attractive centres by George M. Warren.

FACING BOTH WAYS

A few months ago word was quietly passed along through the rank and file of Liberal politicians throughout the country to the effect that everywhere and always, in season and out of season, it must be said and said again and yet again that Mr. Bennett will inevitably be defeated in the approaching election. It was to be said very often, and in tones of assured certainty, such as one naturally adopts when referring casually to a universally acknowledged fact or foregone conclusion. Everyone knows the mental, moral and practical effect of hearing the same thing over and over again. Repetition produces an inward suggestion that the thing is probably true. The ordinary unreflective hearer is apt to pass the word along, and indeed repeat it until he believes it himself. The idea was that the Liberal propagandists must avoid controversy, treat the thing as settled, and refuse argument upon a matter about which, they said, no rational doubt could exist.

Since Mr. King broke his long silence and went on the air to expound his party's policy, a new situation has arisen. Mr. King's radio addresses have had a profound effect upon the public mind, an effect which Mr. King did not foresee. The features which especially mark those addresses are his attacks upon Mr. Bennett and his concrete promises, his chief "constructive" proposals, two in number, namely, political control over the Bank of Canada and the repeal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code.

These three matters are of a piece; the same demagogic pattern runs through them all; and in the opinion of many Mr. King has made three serious blunders. He will lose the confidence of many among the more intelligent portion of the electorate by the use of the stupid epithets of "dictator" and "Fascist" which he has applied to Mr. Bennett. His promise or threat to turn the Bank of Canada into a political machine has caused profound concern in the minds of that large class of persons who have entrusted their modest savings to the care of the banks. His reckless undertaking to repeal that section of the Criminal Code which is so obnoxious to the Communists gives to the public the true measure of Mr. King's statesmanship and reveals a revolutionary bias in his mental constitution. This announcement was plainly a bid, and perhaps a successful bid, for the votes of Canadian Communists. Mr. King's declaration regarding the proposed alteration in the Criminal Code cannot be made to square with his brave assurances about Communism, and his ominous threat concerning the Bank of Canada makes nonsense of his pretended abhorrence of Fascism and dictatorship.

GODLESS CHILDREN OF RUSSIA

It was axiomatic that in a country where moral teaching was swept overboard by official decree in the effort to stamp out religion that childish "hoiiganism" should develop on a large scale and that juvenile crime should become rampant. The waywardness of young people in Soviet Russia is a byword. In the existing Soviet homes for waifs and strays there are now 252,000 children, and they are being taken in at the rate of 45,000 a year. It seems beyond the power of the rulers of Russia to deal with this problem, for no matter how many children are immured, great numbers still remain on the streets, committing crimes ranging from petty theft to burglary and murder.

How serious the situation has become is illustrated by the Soviet Government declaring a new war on juvenile "hoiigans" and now in Russia all children over twelve years of age are considered as adults in the eyes of the law and are dealt with under the ordinary criminal code. According to the Soviet Press, the army of waifs and strays is recruited largely from children deserted by their parents "in consequence of the parents' loose ideas about marriage ties and their responsibility for the children they bring into the world." Izvestia describes such children in the streets and houses of Moscow as mostly boys and girls between the ages of twelve and fifteen, who, despite their tender years, "have great experience in theft, robbery, drunkenness and other crime," and behave when hailed to court "like wild things captured from another world." It says they are captured, it is true, from the world of Bolshevik morals, or lack of morals. The situation, as described in the Soviet Press, is the severest indictment yet brought against the irreligion of the country.

CRICKET WEEK

Cricket must be one of the oldest games played in this community, for there is a record of the pastime having been indulged in as long ago as 1864, and probably it was played earlier still by teams from warships stationed at Esquimalt. In any case, it is a game that within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has maintained its hold. As compared with some other games it does not appeal so widely from the spectators' standpoint in this part of the world, but it holds a grip on the players that no other game does in quite the same way. This is because it has established a code of sportsmanship, a morale and a spirit that the game's the thing, not the winning of it. Cricket, indeed, is a word that has become incorporated in the English language as meaning "playing the game," and this is something that has been achieved by no other cognomen given to any sport.

There is a reminder of what cricket stands for in the Victoria Cricket Club which opens at Macdonald Park today. Local enthusiasts have kept the banner of their sport flying for upwards of seventy years. They have established the permanence of the sport here, just as it has been established wherever it is instituted. No doubt, a new fillip will be given to the game by the provision of the Macdonald Park as a playing field, for before this was opened by the city there was a paucity of good cricket-pitches in this vicinity. With such a field the roll of players will probably increase; it has increased in recent years. More young people are taking up the game and become ardent devotees. The Victoria Cricket Club, the most ancient of all such organizations in this community, deserves every congratulation on its enterprise in promoting the week of the game it is about to stage and deserves every success in the venture. The fact that visiting teams will be engaged all the time in playing against local cricketers will add interest to an event which there is every prospect will be perpetuated in the years to come.

"THE ANSWER'S A LEMON"

National consciousness is being fostered in Germany in many and strange ways. One of these is the banishment of the foreign lemon in favor of the native rhubarb. "Who," asks The London Times, "is the ingrate daughter of the South, the wanton alien woman, the foreign mistress on whom the manhood of a people has been squandering its power to survive the life-struggle between the nations? The answer's a lemon." That is treating the subject frivolously. The health correspondent of The Frankfurter Tageszeitung deals with the matter in far more sober vein, for to him it is linked up with "race, heredity and health." From his viewpoint, the Delilah that has been sapping the strength of Germany is not wars, not treaties, not revolts, but lemons.

Hereafter Germany is to be German, all German and nothing but German. The country, under Hitler, seems to have lost whatever sense of humor it possessed. It is taking itself with the utmost seriousness. The lemon, the panacea of sport-thirsty devotees, is banished from the land. It must disappear from highballs and cocktails. It will no longer be a stimulant to appetite on the dining table. Rhubarb must fill the requirements where the lemon seemed formerly indispensable. The lemon comes from effete and enervating lands and is not good for the blood of the Germans who are reverting to the worship of Odin and Thor. The thinning of that blood will be checked by the substitution of rhubarb juice for lemon juice on veal cutlets, and then, too, Germans will know that they are using a juice of their own, for apparently they have settled upon rhubarb as a plant indigenous to their soil. The Germans will have to find a new poet to sing the praise of their rhubarb, for Goethe comes under suspicion since he asked "Do you know the land where the lemon grows?" The one consolation of Germany's ban on the fruit will be that lemons will be available in larger quantities for Eritrea, where, as The London Times says, "they will doubtless transmit to the blood, and to the body and soul, of a more southerly race the delicate vibrations which determine the national type."

HOLLYHOCKS

The roses have begun to fade. Their petals fill the air. The violets that graced the glade Have gone, I don't know where. But here and yon the fading stocks Give forth a faint perfume. And by the wall the hollyhocks Are bursting into bloom. You fancy that you hear them chime A song of Summer-time. Their opening petals rock and swing In every whispering breeze. While always round about them sing A swarm of humming bees. To glean the nectar they contain, And while they tarry on. To chant a soft and low refrain Until the day is gone. And then amid the shrouding gloom To flutter swiftly home. 'Till Autumn is almost at hand And leaves begin to fall. These sentinels will stand Beside the garden wall. The world outdoors will wear a smile Of happiness and cheer. Our troubles will seem lighter while The hollyhocks are here. To make all nature glad and gay Throughout their fleeting stay. —James J. Montague, In The New York Herald-Tribune.

Three Score and Eleven
Seventy-one years old and still going strong. No, ladies and gentlemen, this is not an advertisement for your favorite brand of liquor, but the record of the Victoria Cricket Club, which, this week will open their "Cricket Week" at Macdonald Park. We join with many others in wishing the club continued success. Ladies and gentlemen, to the Victoria Cricket Club.—S.T.

Providing a Substitute
Vancover aldermen have been discussing a heavy bore gas projector for the police department. Mayor McGeer expects to be absent for long periods at Ottawa.—B.A.M.

High-Hat Potatoes
Consider the potato; how high-hat it has grown! Time was when the humble turnip, or Irish potato, referred to it with terms of affection. But let it beware, for the poor people. Now look at it! It is a ward of the Crown. It has a whole police force for escort. King's counsellors are its servants. It is called a tuber. It snoots the turnip. It must disappear from highballs and cocktails. It will no longer be a stimulant to appetite on the dining table. Rhubarb must fill the requirements where the potato seemed formerly indispensable. The potato comes from effete and enervating lands and is not good for the blood of the Germans who are reverting to the worship of Odin and Thor. The thinning of that blood will be checked by the substitution of rhubarb juice for potato juice on veal cutlets, and then, too, Germans will know that they are using a juice of their own, for apparently they have settled upon rhubarb as a plant indigenous to their soil. The Germans will have to find a new poet to sing the praise of their rhubarb, for Goethe comes under suspicion since he asked "Do you know the land where the potato grows?" The one consolation of Germany's ban on the fruit will be that potatoes will be available in larger quantities for Eritrea, where, as The London Times says, "they will doubtless transmit to the blood, and to the body and soul, of a more southerly race the delicate vibrations which determine the national type."

How Dry Ye Yam
There's no appling the mainbrace in the United States navy; in fact, the fleet is one part of the United States. It has not repeated the Volstead Act. Visiting U.S. City report that the men receive no rum rations, and no private liquor supply is allowed on board.—P.C.R.

Things as They Are
It's wonderful what sights are revealed on a windy day. . . . Was the man who backed his automobile all the way up Yates Street, the other night just trying to be original, or was he merely a backward individual? . . . Yesterday we encountered a rare specimen of political candidate. He said he was making no election promises, and, if elected, was not going to accomplish any more than his predecessor. . . . He was far-fetched talk, or in other words "baloney." . . . Odd sight—a gaze affixed outside the Five and Ten on Victoria Street. . . . The Royal Coat of Arms on a building near the roof. Must have been a relic of the days when the structure was the old Royal Victoria Theatre.—G.B.

Do You Know That
Ball players in the Big Leagues at one time could call for the type of ball he wanted the pitcher to throw. If he wanted it high and outside he just kindly asked the moundman to oblige him. . . . The biggest game ever in the boxing world was the Dempsey-Tenney new battle in 1927, when 104,943 paid admissions, and the promoters reaped the neat sum of $2,658,000. . . . Emmett French, noted U.S. golf professional of a few years ago, played a round with his putter and turned in a card of seventy-nine. . . . The swerdestakes idea originated in Calcutta, India, many years ago, and all sweepstakes since then merely have been imitations and variations. . . . Earl Sande as a jockey earned over $3,000,000 for the owners of the horse he rode. In one season alone he brought to the owners the neat total of $509,394.—J.D.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except on the Editor's order. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 200 words in length.

SECTION 98

Sir,—The repetition of The Times editorial on the 9th inst. in last night's issue of that paper has not strengthened the argument which that publication is attempting to advance. No one had suggested that The Times had misquoted subsection (4) of section 98. It is not a question of presuming anyone guilty until he is proved innocent. On the contrary, the onus of proof remains with the Crown, but the person charged shall be held to be a member of an unlawful association if it is proved—mark you, "proved"—he has

(a) Attended meetings of an unlawful association; or
(b) Spoken publicly in advocacy of an unlawful association; or
(c) Distributed literature of an unlawful association by circulation through the postoffice mails of Canada or otherwise.

But even if such proof is made, the accused has the right to adduce evidence against the presumption raised by showing by "proof" to the contrary that he is not a member of an unlawful association as defined by the section, and he is still entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt upon the evidence.

The Times persists in its "proof" that the "suspect" is a person. It only appears in subsection (2) in relation to property; and it does not follow that because property may be seized it shall be forfeited; and the Times editorial is mischievous in that it neglects to quote the substantive section which has been quoted by you in extenso.

COMMUNISM

Sir,—I am quite sure that you would not have a column and a half of your space to spare for me to attempt a reply to Mr. Bullock-Webster, and so will refrain, except that I hope you will permit me to point out that he misses the whole gravamen of my complaint that "repression is invariably used by authority for the maintenance of entrenched privilege and against the removal of public grievances and disabilities."

Let me avow that I have no sympathy with Evans' contempt for the King, although I do agree most heartily with Robert Burns, and I have no doubt our gracious Monarch himself would endorse the prayer: "When we sing 'God Save the King,' let's

Thousands Witness Beating of Retreat on Empress Grounds

Ancient Ceremony Is Carried Out by Royal Naval and Royal Marine Guards and Royal Marine Band—Changing of Guard

"BEATING the Retreat," a ceremony almost as old as the British army and a tradition that dates back to the earliest days of military and naval ceremonials, was carried out last night on the lawn of the Empress Hotel before a crowd estimated between 3,000 and 4,000. In addition to the "Retreat," the ceremony of changing the guard was presented.

The "Retreat," which closes the naval and military day, is the last signal before "Tattoo" and is a ceremonial that is customary wherever units of the British Army are stationed. Last night it was performed by a Royal Naval guard, Royal Marines guard and the band of the Royal Marines aboard H.M.S. Danae, visiting here for Navy Week.

OFFICIAL GUESTS

Besides the huge crowd, the ceremony was witnessed by Government and civil officials and officers of the Danae and the U.S.S. Salt Lake City, and officers from headquarters of Military District No. 11 and a number of distinguished visitors including the Governor-General of Bermuda. The official party occupied seats on the lower balcony of the hotel.

The ceremony opened with the bugles sounding "Reveille." The band of the Royal Marines then marched onto the "parade ground" playing "Hearts of Oak," a stirring military march. The band played in both quick and slow time while playing "Vidette" and "Land of Hope and Glory," the latter in both slow and quick step, which concluded the first part of the ceremony.

The second part included the march "Great Little Army," and "Anchors Aweigh," the march of the United States Navy. Taking up a position in front of the official party, the band played "Abide With Me."

CHANGING THE GUARD

The changing of the guard ceremonial opened with the sounding of "First Post." The Royal Marines were on duty and were to be relieved by the Royal Naval guard. The

Stars of Former Days in Baseball to Be Honored at Copperstown

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP).—An all-star "Big Ten" consisting of a galaxy of five major league stars from the nineteenth century playing ranks and as many more from modern times, will form the foundation for an official baseball hall of fame in the National Baseball Museum, now located at Copperstown, N.Y., the game's birthplace.

The National American and American Leagues jointly will sponsor the plan to memorialize the game's greatest playing figures in co-operation with the village of Copperstown, which already has established a sporting shrine on the spot where Major-General Abner Doubleday introduced "base ball" in 1839.

TY COBB

Details were discussed and a general programme agreed upon today at a conference of baseball men with Arthur Cleland, representing Copperstown, at the offices of Ford C. Frick, president of the National League.

GAME'S CENTENNIAL

Development of the hall of fame will be a preliminary to the elaborate programme planned in observance of baseball's centennial at Copperstown in 1939. Its exclusive membership will be determined by a nation-wide vote among sports writers and editors, with final decisions resting in the hands of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The hall of fame will be limited to ten players only for the time being and to focus attention upon its establishment. Others among the game's greats will be picked from year to year. By the time the game's centennial rolls around, it is hoped that close to fifty all-stars will be memorialized in the museum.

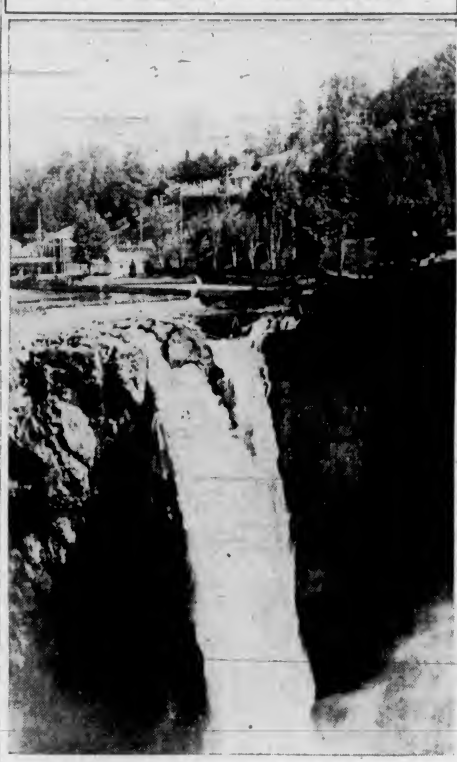

Selection of the first all-stars promises to develop brisk argument. Legendary are many of the feats of the game's earlier heroes. But the record books are embellished by the achievements of such renowned figures as A. G. Spalding, ace knicker, Ed Delahanty, Edgar Connor, Buck Ewing, Hugh Duffy, Dan Brouthers and Willie Keeler.

Picking the outstanding five since 1900 may prove no easier. It would be difficult to leave off Christy Mathewson, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Hans Wagner or Walter Johnson in determining the list.

EXTEND THEIR THANKS

The chief and petty officers of U.S.S. Salt Lake City, H.M.S. Danae, H.M.C.S. Naden, Skeena and Vancouver desire to thank the sergeants of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment for an enjoyable evening spent with them at the mess last Monday evening. The president of the Danae's mess desires also to thank the sergeants for the presentation made to him the same evening.

NATIVE SON OF VICTORIA DIES

George Deans, Born Here in 1859, Succumbs — Funeral Tomorrow

George Deans, seventy-six-year-old native son of Victoria, passed away early yesterday at his residence, 1243 Rudlin Street. He had been in poor health for some time.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Deans, came to Victoria from Scotland aboard the old S.S. Norman Morrison in 1852 in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Mr. Deans received his early education at Cedar Hill School and St. Louis College. The deceased established himself as a farmer, but retired several years ago. He had led a very quiet life, but his passing will be mourned by many local friends. He was a member of the Masonic Order. He was predeceased by his wife four years ago. Mr. Deans is survived by a brother, John F. Deans, Mount, Telimie, and several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:15 p.m. at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

TELLS HOW CITY GREETED VISITOR

Miss Alice E. Duffy Writes in San Francisco Chronicle of Coming Into Victoria Harbor

Practically every mail received each day at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau contains an article from a newspaper published in some part of the country telling what some holiday-maker found on visiting this city recently.

From the San Francisco Chronicle, of August 10, the bureau received a clipping of an article written by Miss Alice E. Duffy. In part Miss Duffy says, in reference to Victoria:

"She (Victoria) is a good and thoughtful hostess. She does not receive her guests, as do most cities, in shabby dingy back streets. She graciously takes the stranger immediately into her best room. She comes smiling down to the waterfront, hand some streets, decked out in trees and lawn and such flowers as you have seldom seen before."

One quick 'getaway'

can use up a whole 'mile' of gasoline.

Today's constant starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money unless your gasoline has these Three Kinds of Power

YOU often start up from a full stop over 30 times a day. And a single zooming getaway, engineers and car manufacturers will tell you, can use 33% more gasoline than normal driving.

This means you need a gasoline with power for HARD PULLING.

But one kind of power alone can't save you money in today's stop-and-go driving. You also need power for INSTANT STARTS.

And your gasoline must be economical in STEADY RUNNING as well!

It's one thing to put these three kinds of power into a gasoline, but it's an even bigger engineering job to have them in the right proportion... in perfect BALANCE. But that is the feat Shell engineers accomplished in creating Super-Shell—the FIRST truly balanced gasoline... the gasoline that saves money 3 WAYS!

Fill your tank today with Super-Shell at one of Shell's 30,000 neighborhood service stations spread from Coast to Coast.

SAVES in 3 ways—

STARTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. Even on sizzling summer days, your engine is relatively "cold" when not running, because normal temperature under the hood when running is over 150°.

PULLING—It can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or in rapid accelerating, or hill climbing.

RUNNING—With its extra heat units, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful, many motorists report, in an hour on the long stretch—thus saving on LONG RUNS as well as on short trips.

Remember, when you save 16 cupfuls, you save a whole gallon!

GAME BOARD FOR ISLAND IS NEW AIM

Victoria Fish and Game Association in Favor of Latest Move

Sixty members of the Victoria District Fish and Game Association enthusiastically decided to secure a separate game board for Vancouver Island, during the annual meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last evening.

E. L. Tait pointed out that autonomous game board for the Island, pledged to conserve shooting and fishing, was the only hope to remedy dwindling catfish and bass. Hunting and fishing could also be developed into a premier tourist asset. The speaker declared that cats in the woods, crows, cougars and other vermin must be killed off before nature could re-stock hunting grounds.

Col. La Devic Carey told of thousands of cats which roamed the Island, killing young game birds for sport. He suggested formation of a cat-killing club, which would be Government to instruct all game wardens to kill cats on sight. The idea will be placed before the affiliated game boards of the Island.

SUGGESTION APPROVED
Mr. Tait's suggestion met with unanimous approval. All Vancouver Island boards of trade, chambers of commerce, tourist trade development association branches and hunting and fishing clubs will be asked to assist the Victoria club in securing a separate game board.

George Claydars thought that Vancouver Island fish traps should be abolished because he believed they were a serious menace to sport fishing. Mr. Tait said the traps near Victoria did not interfere with fishing off Brentwood. Major Roger Monteth asserted that seine vessels were a greater menace than traps. He was sure that the value of sport fishing would equal commercial fishing within the next few years.

A suggestion of General Noel Money that each Island fish and game association appoint two voluntary and unpaid fish wardens was voted down. The fisheries supervisor will be approached to ascertain whether a fish ladder around Sooke Falls is necessary.

Major Monteth regretted that a large section of virgin timber reserved by the late Frank Barnum was up for sale. It was decided to ask the Provincial Government to purchase the tract for park purposes.

IS RE-ELECTED
Major Monteth was re-elected president of the association, and Stanley Shonlit secretary-treasurer, by acclamation. Others were Norman Lord, vice-president; Joe Jukes, Al. Jordan, Ed. Claydars, George Claydars, E. L. Tait, Crawford McDonald, Tom Brown, Col. Carey, Charles MacPherson, Roy Darcus, Ernest Bridges and Norman Lord, members of the executive. The executive will appoint an assistant secretary-treasurer and sub-committee.

A new constitution for the association is the first work of the year. It will be on display in the various sporting goods stores for members' approval.

SERIOUSLY HURT IN TIMBER CAMP

Robert R. Lamont, Logging Company Official, Is in Hospital Here With Fractured Skull

Robert R. Lamont, an executive of the Lamont, Baird & Ratgear Logging Company, Port Renfrew, is in St. Joseph's Hospital here with a fractured skull, the result of an accident at the company's operations late Wednesday afternoon. His condition was reported as "fairly good" as an early hour this morning.

Mr. Lamont was taken from Port Renfrew to Jordan River by boat and from there by C. & C. ambulance over the Jordan River and Sooke Roads, reaching hospital shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday.

Mr. Lamont explained he and Mr. Lanigan had a smooth and uneventful trip across the Atlantic, the passage taking twelve days. They stayed in London two weeks, seeking out historical spots and meeting old friends.

ENJOY MOTOR TRIP
Leaving London they motored 2,500 miles and visited many castles, monasteries and cathedral ruins. From the South of England they went up to the lake country and to Scotland. Throughout the entire trip they avoided the large industrial centres.

Through the courtesy of a friend, Mr. McMillen and Mr. Lanigan had fine view of the Silver Jubilee Mall. They saw it from windows in an office building overlooking the thoroughfare.

Mr. McMillen remarked he was delighted with Paris, and said he could readily understand why so many song writers extolled the beauty of Springtime in Paris. He was much impressed with the strict city planning policy carried on there. "Paris is a jewel," he said with enthusiasm. Mr. McMillen was shown around the city by Comte de Suzannet, he explained.

Tomorrow evening the Canadian Legion Band, under Charles Raine, will give a concert. Madame Millicent Raine, dramatic soprano, will render a Wagnerian aria and several light operatic selections.

Next Monday "Bliss" Hunter will conduct an amateur night. On Thursday, the Knights and Dames of the Thistle, Burns Club, St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will give a Scottish concert, with Robert Smith as master of ceremonies.

morning, almost eleven hours after the accident.

According to reports, Mr. Lamont was looking over company operations and was struck on the head by a heavy choker hook. There was no medical assistance available at the camp and it was necessary to bring Mr. Lamont to the hospital here. Dr. F. M. Bryant accompanied the ambulance to Jordan River and gave what attention was necessary there.

ENJOYS TRIP TO OLD LAND

E. W. McMillen, Former Bank Manager, Returns From Visit to England

Although having just returned from a trip to England and France, E. W. McMillen, retired manager of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal here, is anxious to go again, he said yesterday in an interview.

Aboard the Danish tramp steamer, Europa, in company with William B. Lanigan, also of this city, Mr. McMillen sailed from Vancouver. They were several weeks en route to England, the steamer stopping at many ports on the Pacific Coast and the West Indies.

NET FORMER VICTORIAN
While spending four days in Paris in the company of Comte Jean de Suzannet, a former resident here, Mr. McMillen was taken ill and was forced to cancel his home sailing appointment with Mr. Lanigan, consequently the latter reached Victoria some time ahead.

In London Mr. McMillen placed himself in the care of a specialist and underwent two operations.

HAPPY SPIRIT PREVAILS
Mr. McMillen declined to discuss the political affairs of Great Britain, or the general feeling in the country regarding the Italo-Ethiopian trouble. He said he found a happy spirit among the people.

"As far as can be judged on the streets, in the cities, and in the country, the people are happy and satisfied with the Government," he explained. "There appears to be no serious opposition to constituted authority."

Mr. McMillen remarked about the absence of Canadian goods in the country. Everywhere, he said, were to be found Australian, New Zealand and South African goods in abundance.

Regulations Amended—Several amendments to the wool marketing regulations were passed at a recent special meeting of the Associated Sheep Raisers of Vancouver Island, and enjoyed the tennis finals at Wimbledon.

In company with W. H. Hargreaves, former manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, and A. M. Mowat, former comptroller-general at the Provincial Legislative Buildings, he went up the Thames by boat to Henley-on-Thames. On the trip the party saw beautiful gardens, side by side, extending down to the water. As they passed one residence a "for sale" sign was noticed, which stated the house was designed by Sir Christopher Wren.

BUILDING PROJECTS
Mr. McMillen spoke of the tremendous building programme being carried out in England. Even the smallest communities were enjoying a building boom, he said. Although there were new stores and houses going up, he found no stores vacant and only a few empty houses.

The only disturbing feature of the entire trip was encountered when he was returning home by railway and automobile across the Prairie Provinces. He learned that the rust had caused considerable damage to wheat. While acres and acres of golden grain appeared to be in perfect condition, inspection showed the rust had practically ruined whole sections.

STORMY LOVE

A YOUNG NAVY MAN'S ROMANCE

BELLE BURNS GROMER

CHAPTER XVII

The admiral was a kindly looking gentleman with blue, sea-spent eyes and the deeply lined face of a benign old settler. He had been a commandant of midshipmen during Val's academy days, and when the young officer vigorously pumped his arm up and down and assured him what a pleasure it was going to be to serve under him here, the senior started with a quizzical quirk in one bushy eyebrow.

Mrs. Pomfret, one of an old and famous American family, was a dumpy lady with faded red hair and small bright eyes. She looked, Val thought, like a delightfully pugnacious little old sailor disguised in a velvet frock. When he was presented to her he said, "Mrs. Pomfret, the messenger boy has the honor to report. If ever you need errands run, send for assistant communications. Except to the foreward her with his most ingratiating smile, 'don't ask me to furnish my own bicycle.'"

She held his hand for a moment and studied him with keen, shoe-button eyes. "Young man, you're finally well. And so I am not going to take you at your own valuation just yet."

Now what had she meant by that, he wondered. As he moved on into the drawing-room he noted that Lia had fallen behind with Brad. Sue at his elbow hissed, "Did you see the admiral give Jack Field the fish-eye because Jack is feeling his cocktails a bit? Oh, this navy crowd makes me sick! Jack could buy and sell every one in the place if he liked."

"But what would he do with an admiral after he'd bought him, sweetheart?" Val asked absently and gazed about him at the pleasant homeliness of book-filled shelves, softly faded brocades, flowers from the garden, and souvenirs of the Pomfret's tours of foreign duty—many signed photographs of ladies with court trains and gentlemen in brilliant uniforms with numberless decorations.

All about him he heard the modulated voices of nice-looking people. Sue informed him, were the yard officers and their families, officers from the various ships here under repair, and a few civilians from Bremerton and Seattle. Two men he had previously known stopped to greet him: Cromwell, now a junior captain, and Lieutenant-Commander Linbury, the district communication officer and Val's new boss. After a moment's conversation with each of these officers, the younger man was conscious of a knowing expression that dawned in their eyes. Linbury even said, "The last time we met you were celebrating in the American Club bar in Shanghai, Preston. Still in training, I see."

His senior moved away and Val grinned wryly to reflect that his new boss thought him tight. For that matter, so had the admiral. Well, despite the odorous bourbon, it took more than two drinks to turn that trick. But wasn't it just his luck to make his first appearance at a cold-sober party with a gear who couldn't hold his liquor and was obviously about 12? He turned to regard Field, who stood beside him trying to focus his eyes on a critical lady to whom he had just been presented and across whose frock he had already spilled half his cup of tea. From close at hand came Mona Browne's shrill single and her sister's high-pitched voice saying, "I feel as if I sort of belong with the navy. I have an uncle who was a major in some war or other."

As he turned a bored shoulder toward this group he caught sight of Lia who was poised on the first stair landing in the entrance hall. A hand on one slim hip pushed back her coat to reveal a trim frock of lipstick red. Her little face was tipped up like a creamy poppy to the sun, and she was in animated conversation with a tall stranger whose back was toward Val.

When the man shifted his position Val was curious enough to ask Sue his name. Brad's wife stared over her shoulder in the direction he indicated. After a moment she uttered a strange, mindless laugh. "Trust Lia to manage that as quickly as possible," she murmured. "That, Val, dear, is Maurice Cordray."

So this was Brad's boss, Cordray. A rather magnificent person with curly yellow hair and good Lord—a curly golden beard! The man was faultlessly tailored and groomed, but the whiskers shouted for coal-oil and a tin helmet with dusky wings on either side. "Don't kid me, beautiful," Val said to Sue. "That's a German boy named Siegfried. What'll you bet he doesn't hurt into a horn call before the party is over?"

"Don't be fantastic," Sue frowned. "His father was a Belgian, his mother a Swede, but he was born here in Bremerton. He lived abroad a few years ago. He is very rich, Val, with important holdings in this Northwest country. But he likes best to work in his studio where he fashions all manner of lovely hand-drawn stuff—jewelry, puppets, masks—things like that."

"Don't tell me he plays a flute when I expect a trumpet?" His eyes danced with laughter.

"Don't ever doubt that Maurice Cordray is a trumpet man," Sue's languorous voice warned. "He is an expert boxer, a business man and an artist. His passion is to create beautiful, unusual things. He makes his hobbies pay just as he makes his investments yield. Brad says his special talent in business affairs lies in his ability to select his executives, then let them do the work. And the proof of his success is that he has greatly increased the fortune his father passed on to him."

"I suppose he plays about with the yard crowd?" Sue looked away. "Yes, he is beginning to come to the yard again," she broke off abruptly. Her manner aroused his curiosity. "What stopped him?"

"Oh, there was a silly misunderstanding. That idiot Tony Eastman made a spectacle of himself because Cordray was merely pleasant to his wife. Truly, Val, it was the greatest injustice, because Cordray is charming to all the girls and was only being friendly. I'll wager the whole navy set was disgusted with Tony for driving the man away. For without him this is the dulllest place imaginable. How they must think their lucky stars that that imbecile Eastman has gone to sea duty and Cordray is giving his lovely parties and coming to the yard again."

Sue turned away to speak to Mrs. Field, and Val stood idly watching Lia and her new acquaintance. For some time he had been half-conscious of music coming from the hidden angle of the adjoining room and now a girl's soft contralto began to sing a well-remembered air. Suddenly he stiffened. That song—an old poem of Stevenson's—was as well known to him as his own name. Listening intently, only his eyes moved. There was an odd shiver along his spine, his arms tingled, but he seemed powerless to stir.

"Dark brown is the river, golden is the sand. It flows along forever with trees on either hand. Green leaves a-floating, castles on the foam. Boats of mine a-boating, when will you come home—"

Only one person could sing it like that. Suddenly, heedless of the crowd, he pressed toward the music room. When he finally reached the doorway he saw that he was right. It was Jan. Oh Jan, God bless you, honey! He had known just how she'd be poised there by the piano, clear-eyed and young, her hands clasped behind her, chin lifted, the thick golden waves of hair brushed back carefully to disclose the lovely line of her forehead. That pale green frock with her yellow hair made her look like a jonquil in Spring.

"On goes the river and out past the mill. Away down the valley, away down the hill. That funny old kid song! He had played it for her a thousand times while they chanted it together—"

"Away down the river, a hundred miles or more. Other little children shall bring my bosom ashore. Shall bring my—"

"To Be Continued."

"The conditions today call for active participation in public affairs by the best elements of our people."—Sir Robert Borden.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Peter Finds Some Eggs

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

For a full minute Peter Rabbit stared at Mrs. Bobolink. "Do you mean to say," said he, "that your nest isn't over there where Bubbling Bob and Jimmy Skunk are?"

Mrs. Bobolink chuckled harder than ever. "Of course it isn't over there," said she. "Then where is it?" demanded Peter.

"That's telling," replied Mrs. Bobolink. "It isn't over there, and it isn't anywhere near there. Where it is Bubbling Bob's secret and mine, and we mean to keep it. Now I must go get something to eat." With a hasty "Good-bye" Mrs. Bobolink flew over to the other side of the dear Old Briar Patch.

Peter remembered that he had seen Bobolink running along the ground before she flew up to the top of the mullein stalk where she had been sitting while she talked. He went back to the spot where he had first seen her and hunted all around in the grass. But no sign of a nest did he find. You see, Mrs. Bobolink had been quite as clever in fooling Peter as Bubbling Bob had been in fooling Jimmy Skunk. Peter had not been long in the Old Briar Patch when he heard the voice of one of his very best friends, "Bob—Bob White! Bob—Bob White!" Clear and sweet that call floated over to the dear Old Briar Patch until Peter could stand if no longer. Peter left the dear Old Briar Patch and started off over the Green Meadows toward the Old Pasture. As he drew near the fence between the Green Meadows and the Old Pasture he saw Bob White sitting on one of the posts. On another post near him sat another bird. He also was telling all the world of his happiness. It was Carol the Meadow Lark.

Peter was so intent watching these two friends of his that he took no heed to his footsteps. Suddenly there was a whirr from almost underneath his very nose and he stopped short, so startled that he almost squealed right out. Then he recognized Mrs. Meadow Lark. He watched her fly over to where Carol was singing. Her stout little wings moved swiftly for a moment or two, then she sailed on them without moving them at all. The white outer feathers of her tail showed clearly and reminded Peter of the tail of Sweetvoice the Vesper Sparrow, only it was ever so much bigger.

Just before starting on Peter happened to glance down. There almost at his very feet was something that made him squeal right out. It was a nest with four of the prettiest eggs Peter ever had seen. They were white with brown spots all over them. Had it not been for the eggs he never would have seen that nest. It was of dry brown grass cunningly hidden in a clump of dead grass.

"Oh," cried Peter, "this must be the nest and eggs of Mrs. Meadow Lark."

TO ERECT FLATS IN OLD ADELPHI

Fate of Famous London Corner Is Finally Settled—Noble Terrace to Disappear

LONDON.—The fate of that famous corner of London, just off the Strand, known as the Adelphi, has finally been settled after hanging for years in the balance. This historic estate with its noble terrace is to disappear. Flats will arise in its stead and the skyline of the Victoria Embankment will consequently suffer considerable change.

Nearly 200 years ago two architects, Robert and James Adam, obtained the lease of this area from the Duke of St. Albans, whose finances were badly depleted. On the other hand the brothers Adam, who took considerable risk, and before long the down-and-outs who used to pass the night in "the dark" as a first-class residential estate arches of the Adelphi. The architects built a series of famous houses now known as Adelphi Terrace. Garrick was a resident here for several years and it was from the Adelphi that his imposing funeral procession started for the Abbey. One of the most famous inhabitants in modern times was Thomas Hardy, who has not then forsaken architecture for the pen. On many a long day, Sir James Barrie and Bernard Shaw were for many years

Millions in Ancient Treasure Sought in Wreck of Privateer

New England Adventurers Search for $17,000,000 in Gold in Hulk of British Sloop in Delaware Bay—Other Hunts Started

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Central Press Canadian Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The rotted hulk of a British sloop that foundered in Delaware Bay 137 years ago may make a group of New England adventurers richer by a large part of $17,000,000. It's the objective of their treasure hunt today, and their high hopes have a sounder basis than most such quests of lost gold.

The hulk was once the Brass, which, according to legend, owed her doom to her cargo of gold, silver and precious stones; for she was so heavily laden that her master could not manage her when a gale arose. As persons on shore watched in horror, the sloop turned over off Cape Henlopen, and her crew of forty went down with her. None survived to say just how much treasure she did carry, but it was known that she was filled to capacity with loot taken from two to five Spanish galleons she had captured, and that the galleons were bound home from successful expeditions of wealth from native rulers in South American colonies. Estimates made at the time fixed her gold cargo's value at $10,000,000, which would be worth $17,000,000 today.

Repeated attempts were made in the next 100 years with crude equipment to raise the Brass. Once a grapple iron attached to a long cable brought up scraps of the teak-wood hull.

COINS FOUND

A New England company, in which fifty men have shares, is financing the present endeavor, for which the famed Boston pilot ship Liberty is the base ship. One of the best divers in the country, Henry Beimer, of New York, was obtained to head the diving force. "Clay" Morrissey, veteran Gloucester fisherman, is commander of the Liberty. Proper precautions will be taken against hijacking of any recovered treasure by gangsters.

This latest quest of the Brass's treasure was given impetus by the discovery of ancient coins of gold, silver and copper along the shore by a beachcomber. They were of mintage more than 100 years old. This treasure hunt in Delaware Bay is only one of several of which New York outfitters have learned. The most notable is that aimed at the liner Lusitania, which was sunk by a German submarine off Kinsale Head, Ireland, in 1915.

SEEK LUSITANIA

The steamer Orpheus has been made the most elaborate salvage ship ever outfitted in preparation for the recovery of the gold the Lusitania carried. Of more interest than the gold to historians is the evidence the divers may find to settle finally the question whether the Lusitania was armed and laden with munitions, as charged by the Germans in their defence of the submarine commander who sent more than 1,000 of the Lusitania's passengers to their deaths. The Orpheus's venture is being backed

"The one big blunder is in calling the English simple when they are subtle."—G. K. Chesterton.

In Quest of Long Sunken Treasure

More long-lost sunken treasure like that shown above is sought at places indicated by the spots shown on the map. The Brass, which was the type of ship shown at lower right, is the objective of a search off Cape Henlopen, Del., undertaken by a New England expedition based upon steamer Liberty, with Captain Clay Morrissey, left, below, as commander. Modern diving equipment such as that pictured at top gives treasure-hunters in sea's depths better chance of success than formerly.

LENIENCY SHOWN IN SENTENCES

One Youth Given Six Months in Jail and Younger One Goes to Industrial School

The two youths who pleaded guilty this week to charges of theft from automobiles were yesterday sentenced. The elder one, who was over eighteen years of age will serve six months in jail, while the younger one, who came before George Jay, judge of the Juvenile Court, was sent to the Industrial School in Vancouver.

The former was sentenced to six months on the most serious of the four charges to which he pleaded guilty, which was that of breaking into the locked car belonging to Harry Buckle and stealing therefrom two watches, $18 in cash and some other less valuable articles. Magistrate Jay, in commenting on the offence, pointed out that while the watches were recovered, the cash had not been returned.

CONCURRENT TERM

On the other three charges of stealing from automobiles, the magistrate pointed out that the things taken were not nearly so valuable, and on these counts he sentenced the accused to two months each, to run concurrently with the six-month term.

The magistrate expressed a hope that the youth would profit by the experience and re-establish himself. The sure was taken into account, the magistrate said, in making the sentences less severe than he would otherwise have made them. The youth had previous offences recorded against him.

The junior offender was charged with theft on three counts in the juvenile court. The judge of the court expressed the hope that the youth would reform under the training to be given him in the school and forsake the idea of obtaining goods by illegal methods.

What Today Means

"LEO"

If August 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m. from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m. from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

People's dispositions can be easily ruffled on this day. It will pay to be diplomatic in your business and social contacts. Your inherent self-possession must be exercised on this date if your undertakings are to be successful. Ignore unhealthy or pessimistic thoughts you may hear expressed, as their malignant influence can have no effect upon your mind if you remember that they are probably prompted by a venomous spirit, not by a desire to do good. Trade conditions are likely to be satisfactory. The wise buyer will take advantage of properly priced opportunities that may be presented. There should be great deal of activity in social circles as this day is auspicious for any form of entertainment. Money probably will circulate freely, which will make it possible for many people to indulge in varied amusements. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, should confine their conversations to cheerful subjects, avoiding depressing topics. If a happy, wholesome atmosphere is to prevail.

If a woman and August 16 is your birthday, never allow yourself to get an exaggerated opinion of your own importance. No man, however talented you may be, it will be poor judgment to display an excessive amount of egotism. Artistic and capable, you probably will be very successful. You will probably acquire sufficient money to gratify all of your desires. The stage, concert platform, radio, moving pictures, short story writing or painting, are your gratifying results are most likely to come. Marriage should not be a handicap to a professional career, but might prove very helpful.

The child born on August 16 may be temperamental when it reaches its teens. The wise parent will quickly discourage any such attempt. If a man and August 16 is your natal day, do not make the grave mistake of being too severe in exacting disciplinary rules and regulations in your home or office. Banking, specialized lines of brokerage, journalism, printing and educational work may have money-making possibilities for a man of your ability.

SPEAKERS OF TWO NATIONS APPEAR

Members of Rotary Club Hear Commander W. W. Smith, U.S.N., and J. Southam, Ashford, England

Members of the Rotary Club, at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, enjoyed a programme with an international flavor. Speakers were Commander W. W. Smith, of U.S.S. Salt Lake City, and J. Southam, of Ashford, England.

Jane Dixon Says:

IF A MAN DOES NOT WANT TO MARRY, WHY TRY TO ROPE AND TIE HIM AND DRAG HIM TO THE ALTAR?

Why is it that women always seem to be the ones to urge marriage on their young men?

I suppose it's a left-over from the days when marriage was the only way a woman could take out reasonable insurance.

"Why doesn't he propose?"

"I'm willing to get along on what he earns, but he thinks we ought to wait. How can I persuade him to take the chance?"

"He thinks we're too young to marry. Shall I wait for him or try to turn my mind to someone else?"

These are a few of the questions that come to me day after day in every mail, from every part of the country, written by girls and young women in all stations of life.

I've answered the questions so many times it doesn't seem there'd be a reader left to ask it.

However, a new crop springs up hourly, so here's the answer again:

If a man does not want to marry, why try to rope and tie him and drag him to the altar?

The desire to live as one must be mutual if happiness is to be born of it.

Dear Miss Dixon: I am going with a young man I love very much, and I'm sure he loves me.

Due to financial circumstances he is afraid to take the chance of marriage, as he says he would like me to have a fairly nice home.

He has been most unfortunate in that he has been unemployed for a number of years.

I was happy just to be in his company, enjoying our being together.

Now he has a job that pays him $20 a week.

Do you think we would be foolish to get married?

We are both thirty years of age and have been seeing one another for two years. He asked me to write to you for advice.

If we marry it must be forever. We have seen so many marriages go on the rocks for lack of contentment.—Sally.

HELP HIM TO BUILD

Answer: You'd better exercise a little more patience, Sally, and give the young man a chance to catch his breath and perhaps to pile up a few extra dollars in the bank.

If he was out of work for several years he is probably enjoying the tiny bit of freedom and independence that even so small a wage as $20 a week gives him.

He is building up his self-respect, coming out of the doldrums of unemployment, fear and despair.

Help him to build for awhile, instead of piling new burdens on his shoulders.

If he loves you he will appreciate your unselfishness and your foresight, and you will both profit by the security you store up for yourselves in that little nest egg for which you both work.

The young man has a proper pride. He wants to take you to a home worthy of you.

Suppose he were the kind who didn't care where or how you lived so long as he gratified his own desires? You wouldn't think highly of such a man, would you?

Twenty dollars a week might do well enough so long as things ran smoothly, but if sickness came along, children, responsibilities that demanded cash to carry them, you might find yourselves with some of that discontent that sends marriages on the rocks.

HEALTH COSTS BEING SOUGHT

City Asked to Provide Statement on Various Services to Provincial Gov't

Apparently with a view to ascertaining the cost of public health and social service to each municipality in the province, the city's health department yesterday was asked by E. H. Bridgman, deputy minister of municipal affairs, to answer a list of questions respecting such services.

It is thought, in civic circles, that the Government is taking this step with a view to more seriously considering the claim of municipalities that the Provincial Government lighten the burden of health and social service.

Following is a list of the various costs asked of the city by Mr. Bridgman:

VARIOUS COSTS

Hospital per diem payments.

All other contributions, excluding capital charges, such as fixed annual amounts in lieu of per diem payments, and grants to cover operating deficits.

Contributions towards hospital capital charges.

Per diem payments for patients in Provincial health institutions, including mental hospitals, Tranquille Sanitarium and the Home for incurables.

Charges in connection with medical services rendered to persons in receipt of unemployment relief or poor relief of any type.

Grants to health organizations, such as Victorian Order of Nurses, the Red Cross, the Preventorium, etc.

Expenses of public health activities excluding street cleaning, sewage disposal and other sanitary engineering work.

Expenditure upon school nurses, physicians and dentists.

"Scientists do not differ as a class from other educated people in their attitude toward the problems of religion."—Robert A. Millikan.

naval officers were concerned. He believed that Victoria was the finest port on the British Columbia Coast for a Summer stay, and hoped that he would be able to tie up here again.

TELLS OF INCIDENTS

In giving a few interesting incidents of his naval career of nearly thirty years, Commander Smith told how he was invited to participate in a celebration for the Kaiser's birthday on a German gunboat off Amoy, China. A German boatswain's mate turned to him and boldly stated that some day the United States would battle with the British Empire and Germany would step in and help vanquish the British. The commander declared that the two great nations were too friendly to ever do battle with each other. He invited Rotarians and their wives to visit the U.S.S. Salt Lake City at any time while she was in port.

Mr. Southam told of Rotary work in and about London, England, stating that vocational service had altered the outlook of many English Rotarians. He said that the forthcoming district conference at Hastings would be made an international affair, with delegates from Holland, Germany, Belgium, France and Austria attending. He tendered hearty greetings from Rotary District No. 12 and wished the Victoria club every success.

As we understand it, the average citizen has now been quite thoroughly converted to the view that prices ought to advance sharply on everything he doesn't have to buy.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Looking at England

The Royal Garden Party and the Crowds There—Ex-Service Men's Visit to Germany—Traffic Regulations and the New Telegrams in New Dress

By J. EDWARD NORCROSS

LONDON (by Mail).—The Silver Jubilee is over. It wound up with a garden party at Buckingham Palace. Among the 10,000 guests was Hannen Swaffer, the political columnist of The Daily Herald, the national Labor paper.

Mr. Swaffer is one of the few newspapermen who in this or any other country go everywhere and see everything.

Every year the glamor that veils the realities of lives such as his lures hundreds of young men into newspaper offices who would make much more money in the long run if they became plumbers or stockbrokers. They find it out in time, but generally too late.

After the garden party Mr. Swaffer was rushed off to Durham to attend the annual gala of the miners up there, who, with their wives and families were 100,000 strong, and all admirers of his. For Mr. Swaffer is known on most of the Socialist and Labor platforms of Great Britain.

George Lansbury, leader of the Labor Party in the House of Commons, was there, too. So also was Sir Stafford Cripps, who makes middle-class flesh creep by threatening that when he and his friends attain office they will take over the banks and coal mines and railways, and anything else that comes handy.

Mr. Swaffer sat with them and Arthur Morrison as the great procession passed by, rank after rank cheering for Mr. Lansbury for two solid hours.

There were some cheers for Sir Stafford and for Mr. Morrison; Labor leader in the London County Council and, possibly, next Labor Premier, as well. There were probably some for Mr. Swaffer also, but he is too modest to mention it.

A GREAT CROWD
All this was on Saturday. Imagine the contrast for Mr. Swaffer between that day and the previous Thursday, when The Herald assigned him to the Royal garden party.

The party was "Who's Who" in the flesh. Apparently everybody in London who plays a notable part of some sort in public life was there, members of the Government and members of the Labor Opposition; under-secretaries of state; leaders in their chosen vocations, such as Sir Patrick Hastings, most expert of cross-examining counsel; General Eva Booth and Commissioner Lamb of the Salvation Army (all Canada knows the Commissioner); Oriental and Hindu in gorgeous robes, looking as if they had just stepped out of the "Arabian Nights"; and ambassadors and ministers from countries near and far.

The King and Queen moved about among their guests in their own gracious way. They could, of course, speak at but few of the enormous number present.

Mr. Swaffer was one of the few (and is illustrative of where the glamor comes in).

"I am glad to see you looking so well, sir," he said to the King. It is "sir," and not "your majesty" on such occasions, and "mam" to the Queen.

"That's the sun," replied the King. "It's glorious. I am very glad that we are all going to get a holiday."

And Mr. Swaffer made way for Sir Patrick Hastings.

Let me repeat that Mr. Swaffer is one of the most virile, not to say virulent, of Socialist speakers and writers.

The incident is trivial in itself, but it explains in part at least why Socialism is evolutionary and not revolutionary in Great Britain.

A German or Italian Swaffer could not have got within a mile of Hitler or Mussolini.

ENDS LONDON SEASON
The Royal garden party marked the end, not only of the Silver Jubilee, but also of the London season, the most festive and bedazzling of the metropolis has known since the Diamond Jubilee.

The King began his much-needed holiday at once. He and the Queen left immediately for Portsmouth to spend a fortnight on the Britannia and, incidentally, to take in Cowes Week.

Society, the Society that is spell with a capital letter, has gone to the South Coast, too, for Cowes Week, and will then disperse to the moors for the shooting.

London is empty.

Empty except for the ten million people or so who remain there to get on as best they can until the "Little Season" begins in November.

The police, who, during the successive pageants of the last three months, have done a tremendous lot of extra duty, are thankful that they may now return to their ordinary routine.

The final parent, by the way, was their own show, a review in Hyde Park of 8,000 constables and officers, at which the forces of all parts of Great Britain were represented.

It was the first time the police had been honored by the King in this way.

Just as he had done at the splendid reviews of the Air Force, the Army and the Navy, the King took the salute as the ranks in blue marched past eight deep.

"I warmly thank you all," were the concluding words of his later message to the police forces of the United Kingdom expressing his appreciation of the cheerfulness, consideration and efficiency they had displayed in carrying out the great responsibilities and additional duties imposed on them by the Silver Jubilee.

GERMANS WELCOMED
When first proposed, the interchange of visits between German and British ex-service men seemed only a harmless gesture on both sides, but not unlikely to be productive of good feelings between the two countries.

The Germans who came to England received a very warm welcome, and no untoward event marred their visit.

When a small body of British ex-service men went to Germany, however, the Hitler Government could not resist the temptation to make political capital out of it.

That was bad enough, but not only were the British delegation prevented from meeting the Steel Hecks, as had been planned, but a new wave of terrorist repression was begun before they had left the country, a forcible reminder, if any were needed, that thousands of German ex-soldiers were languishing in concentration camps.

British enthusiasm for this "hands-across-the-North-Sea" demonstration cooled very considerably before the delegation got home again.

The press, on the whole, kept silence, responsible newspapers probably being anxious to say nothing that might embarrass the Government at a time when grave issues of peace and war depended on the outcome of delicate negotiations on the Continent.

It was left to the columnists of the Sunday papers to express the real feelings of the British public in the matter.

For savage sarcasm and bitter irony it would be hard to beat the following, from the pen of a brilliant contributor to The Sunday Review:

"Every other old soldier will be as glad as I am that our comrades of the British Legion had such a top-hole time in Germany, but it's a pity that the entertainment programme had to be curtailed at the last moment."

Their hosts had a lot more fresh and frolic fun ready for them, including:

"A grand full-dress Jew-baiting, concluding with the firing of half a dozen Jews' houses."

"The beating of twenty Catholic ex-soldiers, members of the recently dissolved Reich League of Catholic Front Fighters, by a pulp, in the presence of von Goering himself."

"A 'bayonet dance' by six Lutheran pastors—a very mirth-producing performance, in which the pastors, dressed in full regalia, were seen to be very much amused by the antics of the German ex-soldiers."

"The singing of the German national anthem, 'Deutschland, Deutschland über alles,' by the German ex-soldiers, with the British Legion band playing the accompaniment."

"The presentation of a large number of German ex-soldiers to the British Legion, with the British Legion band playing the accompaniment."

Town Springs Up From Wilderness

The town of Palmer, built by colonists from the Middle-Western section of the United States, is pictured above on a busy day. In the foreground are the administrative headquarters of the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation. The long building is the warehouse, which also houses the telegraph and radio offices of the United States Army Signal Corps. Tents of the colonists are to be seen in the background. A few months ago this was a wilderness.

working spectacle, because they look so damn funny when jabbed from behind.

The boys had to miss all this for some tom-fool diplomatic reason. Still, a good time was had by all, and their visit has made the European situation much easier."

The writer of the above is a worthy successor of Julius himself.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS
Rate members of the Automobile Association, girding at the new traffic regulations in general and the resuscitation of the speed limit in particular, have dubbed the Minister of Transport "Motorists' Enemy No. 1."

Despite all Mr. Hore-Belisha's efforts, however, the toll of deaths and injuries arising in the course of motor traffic on the highways continues to be very heavy.

True, there has been some improvement on last year's figures, despite the increased number of cars on the roads.

Roughly speaking, the fatalities during the period June-September (inclusive), in 1934, varied between 130 and 180 weekly. During the corresponding period of the present year, so far as it has gone, they have run from ninety-seven to 127. The weeks of very heaviest traffic, those in early August, have, however, still to come.

Curiously enough, while fatalities are down between twenty-five and thirty per cent, the numbers of those injured remain at about 5,000, much the same figure as that for the Summer weeks of 1934.

Mr. Hore-Belisha, however, is content that this state of affairs, the removal annually of a quarter of a million victims from the roads to the morgues and hospitals, can be ameliorated, and is determined that it shall be.

He has tried regulations of one sort and another, safety crossings, Belisha beacons, and so forth, and has just succeeded in piloting through Parliament a bill to prevent ribbon-building, which will do much to make the arterial roads of the future safer for traffic of all classes.

Ribbon-building, is the erection of houses along newly developed arterial roads, thus largely defeating the very purpose of such highways.

DRINK AND DRIVING
But there are other possible remedies, and the very fact that Mr. Hore-Belisha is considering them is increasing the blood-pressure of the aforementioned rate members of the Automobile Association.

These are indicated by reports received from the medical authorities, one of which, the result of investigations by a committee appointed by the British Medical Association at Mr. Hore-Belisha's request, is to the effect that very small drink of beer, wine or spirits is sufficient to slow down a driver's reactions just enough to make the difference between a narrow escape and a disaster.

So, with admirable logic, the Post Office psychologists have decreed that the buff envelope must go, and an envelope, less ornate than that for the "joy-wire" but still of a cheerful color, is to be substituted.

The new sixpenny telegrams are a tremendous success, by the way. The telegraph business, which had been falling off for years, has suddenly increased by twenty-six per cent, and staffs are working at top pressure.

Whether the new "joy wire" envelopes and forms will increase the pressure remains to be seen. There will, doubtless, be more telegraphing than ever until the novelty wears off, but afterwards the public may not be disposed to increase the cost of its telegrams fifty per cent for the sake of the doves and bells.

MEETING IN CONVENTION

Port Authorities of Pacific Coast Hear Papers on Traffic Matters

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—The twenty-second annual convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Port Authorities opened today with registration of sixty-five delegates from seventeen Coast seaports. A score or more representatives of Eastern ports and transcontinental railways were also present.

After an address of welcome by Alderman H. D. Wilson, chairman of the Vancouver port and utilities committee, a reply by George W. Oagood, of Tacoma, the convention went into business session with President J. B. Thomson, Vancouver harbor commissioner, in the chair.

MORE TRAFFIC
Solution of problems facing railroads lies in creating more traffic and in eliminating unfair-highway competition, B. T. Chappell, general superintendent of the Canadian National Railways, stated in reading a paper on the railway situation, his arguments being supported by C. A. Cotterell, Canadian Pacific Railway.

A port, like the narrow part of an hourglass, determines the flow of traffic to and from its hinterland. Col. W. C. Bickford, chairman of the Seattle Harbor Board, stated in another paper read today.

IMPRESSIVE TRIBUTE
Col. Bickford was unable to attend and his paper was read by J. A. Earley, secretary to the Seattle port authority.

An impressive tribute was paid by the gathering which stood in silence to honor the memory of Dean W. B. Brock, late chairman of the Vancouver Harbor Board, and F. J. Coulthard, of the Westminster Harbor Board.

Dean Brock was killed in an airplane crash at Alta Lake, B.C., July 30.

MANY EVENTS FOR WEEK-END
Races for Ladies, Juniors and Naval Men at Yacht Club

By J. B. AGLAND
Tomorrow the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be hosts to the ladies sailors who are members of friends of members. Judging from past experience it seems that Ladies' Day is the one day of the year when Napier Dennison and his weather bureau supply a real sailing breeze.

On Sunday the annual race for the Discovery Island and Chatham Island Cups will be sailed round the group of islands for which the cups were named. This race starts about 10 o'clock in the morning, taking from two to three hours to complete, depending on the conditions. The skippers are given the choice as to which way they will elect to sail round the islands, and it is a sure point to decide just which course will give them the greatest advantage of the wind and tide on the day. As no tide table has been known to give the correct answer to the actual conditions governing the various eddies round Discovery Island, one rather expects that the skipper who chooses the right course for the day has been spending the night before with a "ouija" board. Until last year it seemed that there was always one boat which decided to go round the island in the opposite way to the rest, and by doing so won by a large margin; but last year the fleet of twelve boats split, four going one way and the remainder the other, the first four boats finishing within five minutes in spite of the fact that they had rounded the island in opposite directions. This year may see something different again.

In the afternoon the club will be hosts to officers from the two cruisers H.M.S. Danne and U.S.S. Salt Lake City, when it is hoped to arrange a series of races between them in the stars and dinghies round the Caddo Bay courses. This should be an International event of note, but it is doubted if the results will be recorded in either the naval logs or the yachting news. That the races will be sailed according to the best traditions of the services goes without saying, but the finer points of the racing rules may have to be left to the imagination.

WIND DELAYS COAST LINER

Ruth Late Arriving—Madison to Resume Service—Asia in Drydock

Strong northwesterly winds blowing down the Coast delayed the Pacific Steamship Lines S.S. Ruth Alexander about five hours on her passage from San Francisco. According to reports received by W. M. Allan, local representative of the company, last evening, the captain of the Ruth Alexander wireless that his ship would dock here at 3 o'clock this morning.

The Ruth Alexander had seventy-five passengers for Island and Mainland ports aboard. It was understood last night that they would disembark between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, the liner continuing to Seattle at the latter hour. She will be here again tomorrow night, southbound.

WALKED OUT

According to a story appearing in Seattle newspapers yesterday, the engine room crew of the S.S. President Grant walked off the ship. They left the vessel Wednesday in protest over the discharge of a water tender. No action concerning the situation has been received at the local office of the American Mail Line. The S.S. President Grant is scheduled to sail for the Orient tomorrow.

Negotiations between the company and representatives of the Marine Firemen, Oilers and Water Tenders' Union, it is stated, were deadlocked yesterday.

A. F. Holmes, vice-president of the line, said the trouble arose when a water tender was discharged for being intoxicated and absent from duty without leave.

Remember the American Mail Line S.S. President Madison, which was a regular caller here until an accident in Seattle Harbor, March 24, 1933, tied her up? Well, she is being prepared to re-enter the service, a large force of workmen getting her in shape.

OFFICIAL PARTY

Through its local office, the American Mail Line announced yesterday that there will be twenty-five newspapermen accompanying the official party to the Philippines. The party will leave for Manila on October 15 aboard the S.S. President Grant. Including the official party and other travelers bound for the Orient, the liner will have one of the largest passenger lists ever booked in the Seattle-Victoria-Orient service.

For regular Summer overhaul, the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Asia is due to enter the Government Drydock at Esquimalt this morning at 8 o'clock, when workmen from Yarrows Ltd. will busy themselves cleaning and painting her. It is expected that the big ship will be ready for refloating again tomorrow afternoon, when she will proceed to Vancouver.

For lumber cargo for Australia, the freighter Red Sea arrived at Ogden Point Piers yesterday afternoon. The Ousebridge is still taking on lumber for the United Kingdom, and loading started on the freighter Janeta. The King Stephen, now in Royal Roads, will move after the Janeta takes her quota.

THROUGH HEART OF COAST RANGE

Prince Robert Will Cruise to Douglas Channel and Gardner Canal Next Week

Perhaps the most interesting outing offered on the Coast this summer is the forthcoming cruise of the Canadian National liner S.S. Prince Robert to Gardner Canal and Douglas Channel, the "Florida of the Hanging Valleys," between Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert. C. F. Earle, local agent of the company, states.

The 7,000-ton steamer is the first passenger liner to explore those little known waters of British Columbia, which experienced travelers say surpass even the scenery of the Alaska fords. S.S. Prince Robert will sail 1,200 miles on this scenic cruise in British Columbia waters, leaving Vancouver August 23 and returning August 27.

GARDNER CANAL

Deep with mountainous sides, Gardner Canal is the longest of the two great inlets which stretch into the heart of the Coast range. It is eighty miles in length, while Douglas Channel is fifty miles. They are separated by mountainous Hawkesbury Island, heavily timbered and broken by side bays. Only an occasional Indian is seen in the day spent sailing down the great fords, whose majestic walls are separated now and then by valleys which disclose the mountain ranges beyond.

On the southbound trip home through the Inside Passage, the channel liner will steam up Dean Channel to five passengers a view of Mackenzie Rock, where the great explorer secured his first glimpse of the Pacific Ocean at the completion of his epic overland journey. The site is marked. A special programme of entertainment has been planned for this all-British Columbia cruise.

Great Aviator Will Retire

SIR CHARLES KINGSFORD-SMITH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15 (P)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith will retire from active flying—after he makes one final gesture, a flight from England to Australia.

"I've reached that age," said Sir Charles, conqueror of oceans and continents in airplanes, today, "where 7,000 flying hours in nine years beckon me to take my place in the development-work in the interest of mail and passenger air service."

The flyer said he would devote his energy to perfecting a New Zealand-Australian air service.

WILL START CUP SERIES

British and U.S. Women Tennis Stars to Open at Forest Hills Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Feminine tennis stars of Great Britain and the United States open their two-day battle for the Wightman Cup at nearby Forest Hills tomorrow with the invading Britons an even-money betting proposition.

The United States, led this time by Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, not only has won the cup eight times in the twelve years it has been up for competition, but has captured the last four series.

Main hopes of the British squad in singles were Dorothy Round and Kay Stammers. The latter, a comely left-hander, gave Mrs. Helen Wills Moody the only defeat of her campaign abroad this year.

Tomorrow's programme, opening at 1 p.m., C.S.T., will send Miss Jacobs, United States champion for three years, against Miss Stammers, and Mrs. Arnold, sensation of the eastern grass-court campaign this summer, against Miss Round.

In doubles Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Payton will team up against Miss Stammers and Freda James.

The Britons count heavily on sweeping the two doubles tussles. If they do, they need to win only two of the five singles matches to regain the cup.

GRAPPLERS TO BATTLE AGAIN

Edwards-Lowe Rematched Tonight—Parker to Fight Seaman Ferguson

Rematched by popular demand, Wally Edwards, the "Cedar Hill Wildcat," and George Lowe, the "Chinese Flash," colorful local wrestlers, will again headline the Mount Stephen Athletic Club's mixed boxing and grappling programme this evening at their fresh-air stadium, Mount Stephen Avenue. One other wrestling bout and five glove-throwing contests, will complete the attraction programme.

The first mix will commence at 8:30 o'clock. "Edwards and Lowe put on a great match last Friday, with the former gaining the victory by losing his opponent over the ropes in the fifth and last round. Previous to this unexpected finish, the match stood one fall each. Tonight, Lowe will be out for revenge, all of which means that Edwards, rightly named the "Wildcat," will be extended all of the way.

The fireworks should start early and last until the finish of what promises to be a great battle.

"Bud" Kirchin and Jack Lacey, another pair of popular grapplers, will meet in the semi-windup, over the four four-minute rounds at 1:35 p.m.

PARKER TO FIGHT

Topping the fixtures card will be Bobby Parker, Canadian Scottish glove-thrower, and Seaman Ferguson, H.M.S. Danae, Parker, under the tuition of Al McKinnon, former British Columbia amateur light-weight champion, has shown considerable improvement in his last matches and should give the British blue-jacket plenty of trouble. The boys will fight at 1:35 p.m.

The other boxing bouts will bring together Young Daville and Red Thorburn and George Gauthier, at seven-fifteen pounds; Red Knowles and Dick Reid, at seven-fifteen pounds; and Jack Patterson and Gus Dawkins, at 135 pounds.

With such an attractive programme, another bumper crowd is expected to make its way to the

Speed-Boat Race Featured in News at the Dominion

GEORGE Reis' daring race to win speed-boat's classic Gold Cup at Lake George, N.Y., is to be seen in the current issue of The Dominion-Universal Newsreel, now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

The champion racing driver starts his thirteen-year-old craft, still powered by its old motor. In a race against boats fitted with super-chargers and other aids to speed. But skill and daring triumphs as the "Leaping Lizard" crosses the line alone, the only entry to complete the contest.

Other important events to be seen include United States Senator Huey Long showing New Yorkers how to make a gin fizz, New Orleans style, boys in a big turn-out at Buffalo, N.Y., for a junior aviation meet, and hundreds of Indians reproducing the brilliant ancient rites of Aztec and Toltec in a pageant at San Juan Teotihuacan, Mexico.

popular Mount Stephen Athletic Club stadium to witness the bouts. Patrons can reach the club quarters by means of the Hillside street car or the Haultain bus.

The Britons count heavily on sweeping the two doubles tussles. If they do, they need to win only two of the five singles matches to regain the cup.

CATCHES FIVE "BUTTON" FISH

"Doc" Smith Lands Many Fine Salmon at Brentwood in One Day

As a result of his fine catch, at Brentwood on Wednesday, P. E. W. "Doc" Smith, 110 Medina Street, now claims the new 1935 Brentwood record for a day's haul.

Five "button" fish, over twenty pounds in weight were among the salmon which he hooked. Others in the catch weighed from nineteen to six pounds.

During nine hours of fishing Mr. Smith accompanied by James Moreton, Calgary, had a total catch of between 250 to 300 pounds of fish.

Starting about 5 o'clock in the morning Mr. Smith took in his first salmon about 5:45 o'clock, and from then on his friend and he hauled them in at regular intervals. He said that he hooked all his button fish in a deep hole off Bamberton.

Mr. Smith, who is one of Brentwood's most enthusiastic fishermen, said including the fish caught on Wednesday made a total for his boat this year of 420 J. P. Hall, 150 Cook Street, is his partner the year round, and they never miss a weekend on the inlet.

George Robinson also was successful in his catch yesterday morning. At 6:30 o'clock he hooked a twenty-two-pound spring salmon just north of the old quarry on the Bamberton side of Saanich Inlet. His catch for the morning included five Springs, one cod and one grise.

UNITEDS DEFEAT BELLINGHAM, 7-4

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (AP)—Bunching five of their ten safeties, including James' homer with one out, in the seventh inning, Uniteds took a 7-4 decision from Bellingham in an Inter-City Baseball League game here tonight.

United collected two runs in the second frame and another in the third for their other counters. The visitors clicked for two in the fifth and two more in a ninth-inning rally that fell short of its mark.

BALL TUSSLE BILLED TODAY

U.S.S. Salt Lake City to Meet Canadian Squad—Other Events

BASEBALL players from the visiting American cruiser, U.S.S. Salt Lake City, and the Royal Canadian Navy will clash this evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 5:30 o'clock in an international exhibition ball fixture, arranged as part of Victoria's Navy Week sports programme.

Starting at 4:30 o'clock, one hour before the time that the baseball fixture is scheduled to commence, base-running and ball-throwing competitions, and many other highly interesting events will be held. With a number of good runners on both teams, and some good throwing arms, these events should prove interesting.

The ball game will see the American sailors making their first Victoria appearance. Reported to be carrying some fine baseball material, the visitors will be favored to defeat the R.C.N. ball-throwers. However, with some new players on their line-up the Canadian blue-jackets will be out there determined to take the measure of their friendly rivals from the United States navy.

When Budgie steps out against Grant tomorrow, Frank Shields and Frankie Parker will clash in the top of the draw.

GRIPPING FILM HAS SMART CAST

"Orchids to You," Current Dominion Theatre, Picture Stars John Boles and Jean Muir

Some of the most moving dramatic situations ever seen on the motion picture screen, along with sparkling dialogue and plenty of natural comedy are combined to make "Orchids to You," which starts its engagement today on the screen of the Dominion Theatre, one of the most powerful and unusual romantic dramas, with a theme completely out of the beaten track.

John Boles, Hudson's most popular singing star, plays the role of a clever society lawyer. Boles' remarkable talents tend to make Fox Film's "Orchids to You," one of the season's outstanding films.

Jean Muir has the part of a beautiful young lady, whose trade secrets could break a thousand hearts, while Charles Butterworth, the favorite "deadpan" comedian of laughs in "Orchids to You," as a wealthy idler.

Ruthelma Stevens, Harvey Preston and Arthur Lake have featured roles in "Orchids to You," which was produced by Robert T. Kane and directed by William A. Seiler.

A long-waited film treat comes to the Capitol Theatre as the main feature of the new double-bill programme, which starts tomorrow—Jack London's immortal story of the Yukon gold rush, "Call of the Wild," starring Clark Gable, Doretta Young and Jack Oakie.

some fun, the picture exerts a powerful appeal for even members of the family—the youngsters and their dads won't have to be told, for they've all thrilled to this most famous of Jack London's tales, and the love story assures the feminine contingent of a grand time.

"Call of the Wild" offers Clark Gable a real hero role, and his work as Jack Thornton, handsome, swashbuckling prospector, stands out as the finest of his career.

Loretta Young is believable and beautiful as Claire Blake, the sheltered young society woman who casts her lot with Thornton and his buddy, Jack Oakie contributes the comedy and has never been better.

Cricketers of Seventy Years Ago

This is not two group pictures of House of David baseball teams, but just cricketers in British Columbia snapped just previous to taking the field of battle nearly three-quarters of a century ago. The top group shows the Victoria Cricket Club personnel taken at Beacon Hill Park seventy-one years back, while the lower group is Victoria and Vancouver previous to their inter-city match at New Westminster seventy seasons ago. The local club was organized back in 1865 and is still going strong. Starting today, the Victoria Club is opening its first cricket week, with the locals opposing the H.M.S. Danae at Macdonald Park at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Utton Heads Field In First Stage of Governor-General's

Toronto Marksman Registers Great Possible as Large Contingent Starts After Big Award—Capt. Dave Fyvie and Pte. Thorburn High

By POSTER BARCLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, SOUTH MARCH, Ont., Aug. 15 (AP)—A record-equaling possible of 105 today shot Lieut.-Col. Fred W. Utton, Toronto Rifle marksman, into the lead of 150 qualifiers for the Governor-General's Gold Medal, feature award of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual Preliminary.

Sergeant Jensen, Capt. Worsick and Rifleman Ewing met their master at 100. The trio had notched double possibilities over 200 and 300, but at the longer range one of their shots went into the inner Two years ago, Sgt. Jensen, ace of Western marksmen, won the Governor-General's Prize, and this week was victorious in the Bankers.

Cpl. Morgan and Lieut.-Col. Gibson, however, scored their only inner on the short range. Last night, the chunky Winnipegger set 104 to shoot at, and when things appeared black he came through with a brilliant finish.

Away to a flying start, Lieut.-Col. Utton left no doubt as to victory. He blazed his seven rounds targetward at 200, tagged for the five, duplicated the performance with five others at 300 and was the best of the lot at 600.

Besides winning a silver medal, Lieut.-Col. Utton was awarded the Transvaal Cup, awarded to a veteran of the Boer War making the highest score in the Governor-General's Preliminary.

VICTORIANS HIGH
Among the scorers of 103 were Capt. Dave Fyvie, Victoria; Lieut. Stephen Johnson, Wayne, Alta.; Trooper D. M. Davies, Edmonton; Cpl. H. Sanderson, Vancouver; Pte. H. Thorburn, E. Equinault, and Trooper R. Ostergaard, Wayne.

Alberta's team of eight won the "London Merchants' Cup, compiling 755 points, two more than Quebec. The match, the only other one on the day's programme, was fired over 900 and 1,000 yards, ten rounds at each range.

Ontario and Nova Scotia tied for third place with 752 and were followed by Manitoba with 751. British Columbia had 747. New Brunswick 734 and Saskatchewan 714.

Other British Columbia scores follow: Corporal H. Sanderson, 103; Private H. Thorburn, 103; Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, 102; Cpl. G. L. Evans, 102; Lieut. N. G. Colville, 102; Capt. J. M. MacNeil, 101; Cpl. I. M. Grant, 101; Sgt. J. Kier, 100; Sgt. E. G. Willoughby, with 99, won his way into the second stage in the shoot-off.

UP-ISLANDERS MOVE INTO DOMINION CUP FINAL BY CLOSE WIN

Earn Right to Meet Montreal Aldred in Soccer Final by 2-1 Triumph Over Lethbridge—Daisy Waugh and G. Bell Net Goals—Eastern Title Goes to Montreal by 2-1

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Aug. 15 (AP)—Greater experience, accurate passing and the impenetrable defence of Nanaimo combined here tonight in the Western Canada final of the Dominion Football Association play-downs to give the British Columbia eleven a 2-1 victory over Lethbridge Supinas and the right to meet Montreal Aldred in Winnipeg for the Dominion Challenge Cup.

Supinas, slight pre-series favorites because of the difficult Lethbridge pitch, which has baffled most of the Albertans' opponents, lost the first game of the series Tuesday, 3-1. Nanaimo grabbed an early lead when James "Daisy" Waugh, speedy centre forward, found the net, and Gordon Bell, outside right, made it 2-0 before the first half ended. Supinas, battling desperately to stay in competition, tried hard to overcome the handicap in the second half, but were able to score only once. Jim Radley, inside right, counted.

WAUGH SCORES OPENER
Nanaimo's first goal resulted from loose play around the Lethbridge net. George Anderson, Supinas fullback, kicked the ball to Goalie Bobbie Dunlop, who stayed in his net instead of coming out to clear. Waugh came charging in and bodied Dunlop across the line.

Lethbridge fans also found cause to complain to Lady Luck at the invaders' second goal. Bell's high arching shot dropped behind Dunlop when the goalie lost the ball in the sun.

A beautiful kick paved the way for Supinas only goal. J. Laker scored a corner. J. Truman, outside left, took the kick and placed the ball in the Nanaimo goalmouth. Radley headed it in.

With the Alberta team fighting from whistle to whistle to avoid elimination, play was fast throughout. Lethbridge forced from the start but Supinas attacks were broken repeatedly by the sterling British Columbia defence of Ernie "Fat" Edmunds and Andy Gavin.

INKSTER OUTSTANDING
Pre-Inkster, Nanaimo goalie, stood out with his sensational stop as wave after wave of Supinas attacks broke on the British Columbia net.

Nanaimo, with a two-goal lead, were content to play a defensive game in the second half and Lethbridge missed several goals by narrow margins as the Albertans fought grimly.

Inkster saved once from a pile-up in front of the Nanaimo net. A loss-up at the goalmouth failed to produce a goal for Lethbridge when the massed Nanaimo players blocked George Ure's scorching drive. A moment later, Truman's shot skimmed the bar with Inkster well beaten. The same player was denied again from another scramble close in just as the game ended.

The line-ups follow:
Lethbridge—Goal, R. Dunlop; fullbacks, A. Donaldson and G. Anderson; halfbacks, J. Clarke, G. Wilson and Ted Radley; forwards, J. Laker, G. Ure, W. Knight, Jim Radley and J. Truman.

Nanaimo—Goal, Pete Inkster; fullbacks, Andy Gavin and Ernie Edmunds; halfbacks, W. McGregor, Jimmy Knight and Alex Thomson; forwards, Gordon Bell, Alex Stewart, Jimmy Waugh, George Grey and Bud Sandland.

Referee—James Gilhooley, Calgary.

MONTREAL ADVANCES
FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 15 (AP)—Hailed as one of the soundest all-around teams to perform in these parts within recent years, Montreal Aldred won their way into the final of the Dominion Football Association Challenge Cup, by defeating Fort William Wanderers, 2-1, here tonight.

The victory made it two straight for the Montreals, who scored a 2-0 triumph in the first game Tuesday night. They now move on to Winnipeg to meet Nanaimo, Western Canada winner, in the final. It was a scintillating test between two teams adept at combination thrusts, and while Aldred got the first goal, Wanderers enjoyed more than a fair share of territorial play. Only steady defensive tactics on the part of the Montreal squad averted the necessity of a third game.

It was during a concerted Wanderers attack that Berdell and Fallon, the latter making his first appearance here for Aldred, combined for the first goal.

West Forts rallied strongly, and playing a sound, swinging game, gained the equalizer fifteen minutes later through a goal that came on a peculiar play. Bill Nesbit, defensive Wanderer forward, was charging in on the opposition goal when Nelson kicked to clear. The ball struck Nesbit on the side of the head and rebounded to the upright. Nesbit recovered smartly and booted the ball into the net, with Nelson completely out of position.

There was no further scoring during the first half.

After the change-over, both teams started out to clinch the issue in quick order. There were several brilliant exchanges, but defensively neither side gave way. Wanderers trotted out their regulars, with Goodman and Sinclair replacing Milligan and McKie on the forward line.

With Wanderers pressing, Belshak, Aldred outside right, trapped the ball and raced down the field. He kept well ahead of his pursuers and as he reached the Fort's defence area, sent a well-placed pass to McLean, who had Currie at his mercy for the deciding goal.

Although Wanderers almost equalized again a few minutes later through Nesbit, the sting of the attack was gone. Nelson made the most spectacular save of the game from Nesbit's kick and thereafter the Montreals fell back on the defensive until the last few minutes of the game.

FULLBACK INJURY
An injury to Smith, Wanderer fullback, early in the game, had an unsteady effect on the home rearward for a while.

The entire Montreal team played with cohesion, although Belshak and McLean were particularly effective on the attack. Nelson's goal-tending was brilliant in both games.

The line-ups:

Referee—Rickey Dykes.

JOHN HART AND BALLINGER GAIN SENIORS' FINAL

Victorian Meets Seattle Veteran At Oak Bay Course

Local Shotmaker Defeats Dr. O. B. Wight After Great Match—Hart Plays Remarkable Shot on Final Hole—Ballinger Eliminates W. H. Abbott—Tourney Ends Today

Following today's final, C. S. Battle, the returning president from Vancouver, will present the various class and flight winners with their prizes, and another successful tournament will then be recorded in the books.

GREAT FIRST NINE

In disposing of Dr. Wight, who tied for medal honors with Jack Ballinger, John Hart shot the best golf of the meet. He clipped a stroke from perfect figures on the outward journey, shooting the nine in 32, the best first-nine card registered during the week. Two bad holes, the eleventh and twelfth, gave the Victorian a 41 coming home for the neat card of 73.

The Hart-Wight match was a merry battle from the first tee to the eighteenth green. Wight shot good golf going out, a fine 36, but at that he was trailing by three holes. He equalled Hart's 41 coming in to barely miss victory. However, it was Hart's brilliant recovery shot with a No. 4 iron that gave him the victory on the final hole. On the eighteenth Hart pulled his tee shot into a trap. He was forced to stand on the bank to play his second, which he did for the most sensational golf shot played at Oak Bay during the week to land twenty feet from the pin. His two putts gave him the hole with a par, and also the decision.

Hart started off in great style, getting a birdie on the first hole for a win. Another under-par figure gave the local contender the fourth, and a birdie 3 put him three up at the sixth. Hart gained a four-up lead at the eighth, but Wight won the ninth with a 3 to cut his opponent's lead to three up at the turn.

SQUARES MATCH

Wight got back in the battle by winning the eleventh and twelfth when Hart encountered trouble, and then he squared the match at the fifteenth with a par 4 to Hart's 5. The Victorian gained the lead again at the next hole, halved the seventeenth and followed it up with his sensational recovery shot at the final hole to decide the match.

Ballinger, who cut a figure in P.N.W. amateur circles seventeen years ago when he reached the final played sterling golf in eliminating his Bellingham opponent, W. H. Abbott. The Seattle veteran was out 34 to be 2 up at the turn. Ballinger won the first hole and then took the next two to be three up, but Abbott won back the fourth and then took the fifth to cut his opponent's lead to one up. The match was squared at the next hole, but Ballinger came back strongly to take the eighth and ninth holes to head down the back stretch two holes in the lead.

EXTRA HOLE MATCHES

Six of the other matches were decided on the nineteenth green, and another went as far as the twenty-first. J. McCulloch, Comox, was carried three extra holes before winning from J. A. Scollard, Seattle, in the first flight of Class "C." F. R. Stewart, genial veteran from the Mainland, won out at the nineteenth in the first flight of Class "A," and E. L. Howard, Seattle, gained his victory on the same green against B. G. Campbell, also from the Sound City, in a Class "B" final flight semi-final. B. S. Heisterman, Victoria, gained an extra-hole verdict over G. Jones, Portland, in the third flight, and J. A. Scott, Victoria, had to go to the first hole again to beat M. H. Dobie, Vancouver, in the fourth flight. In the fifth flight, Thomas Cole, Victoria, nosed out A. McCulloch, Comox, at the nineteenth, and W. G. McLean, Seattle, had a battle on his hands before defeating G. R. Naden, Victoria. Naden was 5 down and 8 to go, and rallied desperately to prolong the match to the nineteenth before admitting defeat.

WIN DRIVING HONORS

Winners of the long-driving competition follow: F. R. Stewart, Vancouver, Class "A"; J. E. Wilson, Victoria, Class "B"; T. H. Leeming, Victoria, Class "C"; L. D. Rimes, Victoria, Class "D"; T. S. McPherson, won the day's putting prize after a play-off.

Grand Championship

John Hart defeated Dr. O. B. Wight, Portland, 2 up.
Jack Ballinger, Seattle, defeated W. H. Abbott, Bellingham, 3 and 1.
Class "A" Championship
G. O. Nettleton, Spokane, defeated A. W. Tidmarsh, Seattle, 2 and 1.
R. L. Hulbert, Seattle, defeated R. W. Gibson, 2 up.

Class "A"—First Flight

F. R. Stewart, Vancouver, defeated J. B. Fliken, Spokane, at nineteenth.

Monarchs of All They Survey in Net World

Great Britain's tennis standard-bearers reached a new high in their Davis Cup work this season, with a 5-0 shutout scored at the expense of United States campaigners. Here we have the foursome who not only took the singles easily, but confounded the American experts by taking the doubles in four sets. From left to right we have Fred Perry, the two-time Wimbledon champion, conceded to be the outstanding singles player in the world, who takes his tennis easily and seldom bears down unless he has to. Next is H. P. 'Pat' Hughes, veteran doubles player, who found a fine running mate in C. R. D. Tuckey, young English army officer, to make up a fine doubles combination. Hughes has been campaigning for some time in Davis Cup and international tennis, but Tuckey's appearance in the recent tests was his debut, and he proved to be the best player on the court. H. W. 'Bunny' Austin, the slim-built stylist, who is a far better player than generally rated, is on the right. Austin has that wonderful faculty of being able to rise to the occasion, the real hall-mark of a champion.

Water Polo Came This Evening at Crystal Garden

WATER polo stars from H.M.S. Danae, visiting British cruiser, will be seen in action this evening at the Crystal Garden pool, when they oppose a picked team from the Victoria swimming club in an exhibition polo match, commencing at 8:00 o'clock. The blue-jackets are reported to be carrying a strong squad and should provide good opposition for the well-balanced local team.

After a number of stops on the trip east, the genial boss of the Rangers expects to reach Madison Square Garden in a few weeks, there to resume his regular duties. Mrs. Patrick and the two boys, Lynn and Murray, will remain in the city for some time yet.

H.M.S. DANAE BEATS R.C.N. SOCCER TEAM

Chalks Up 4-0 Victory in Naval Veterans' Trophy Football Final

Displaying better team understanding and smarter football, H.M.S. Danae's soccer eleven, yesterday evening defeated the Royal Canadian Navy, 4-0, in the Naval Veterans' Trophy final played at the Royal Athletic Park. The visitors, having an edge in the play, scored two markers in each half.

At the conclusion of the match Mayor David Leeming presented the handsome trophy to Leading Stoker Robinson, captain of H.M.S. Danae's team. In handing over the token of victory His Worship extended congratulations to the winning eleven, and also had a word of praise for the losers. Individual trophies were presented to the members of the two teams by President W. H. Dallaway, Past President J. Whitcomb, Past President E. S. Michell and Vice-President J. Quinn.

DINNER GUESTS

Following the match the players were the dinner guests of the city of Victoria at Kew's Cafe. Alderman James Adam, British Columbia member of the Dominion Football Association Council, presided at this event.

Playing better soccer and combining nicely as a team, H.M.S. Danae opened the scoring after ten minutes of play in the initial half when Leading Stoker Robinson, team captain, beat Munde, R.C.N. goalie, with a low shot to the corner of the net, during a melee in front of the Canadian goal. It was a splendid shot, which Munde tried hard to save, but the ball got away from him and continued into the net.

The second goal came late in this half, following a weak goal kick by Munde. After the Navy goalie had booted the ball out, Garisde, Danae's centre forward, gained immediate possession and drove for the corner, and only the brilliant work of the Canadian net custodian saved a sure marker. With Munde still on his knees, Wingrove drove the rebound into the netting with a sizzling shot that sailed just under the crossbar.

The R.C.N. were dangerous on a few occasions, and twice Easton smart British netminder, was forced to his knees to clear. While given little to handle, the visiting goalie showed that he knows his job, and knows it thoroughly.

The locals looked a little better as the second half opened, and came close to scoring on two or three occasions.

Gaining control of the situation again, H.M.S. Danae staged a dangerous offensive and after a few close calls, ran in their third marker, when Garisde, their centre forward, accepted a perfect pass from Milner, right winger, and headed the ball home. Garisde added the fourth and final tally a few minutes before time when he used his head to convert a centre from the left lane.

McMillan refereed, and the teams were: H.M.S. Danae—Easton; Powell,

When Kitchener was a Subaltern

Long before Lord Kitchener carried a Field-Marshal's baton; indeed, away back in the seventies when he was a young Subaltern, we were fighting the cause of Empire Wines. In those days it was not thought possible to produce wines within the Empire which were comparable in quality with Foreign wines. The development of "Empire consciousness," of which Lord Kitchener was a staunch supporter, has made people more willing to try Empire Wines. And, having tried them, few go back to Foreign wines. For example, EMU 444 and EMU 999—Australia's choicest White and Tawny Ports—are now firmly established throughout the Empire. They are wines of outstanding quality.

Another point in their favour is that they cost much less than Foreign wines of equal quality—due to their receiving a tariff preference when entering Canada.

FLIGHT...by W. D. TIPTON and J. H. MASON

THERE is no more romantic figure in early aviation than Roland Garros. Prominent in the pre-World War development of flying, he was the first Frenchman to take the air in defence of his native land.

Of a mechanical turn of mind, he sought some method which would adapt the tractor type airplane for air fighting instead of being forced to fly the clumsy pushers used by the Allies.

He found that seven per cent of the bullets fired by a machine gun struck the propeller blade, so he fitted a deflector plate on the propeller which was a simple solution of the problem.

After a short career as an air fighter, in which he brought down five Germans, he was forced down behind the German lines and taken prisoner. Naturally, his bullet deflector plate attracted instant attention and German engineers sought to improve on his crude idea.

The answer was the invention of the synchronizing gear by Pokker, the Dutch designer who built war planes for the Germans. It permitted the machine gun to fire only when the propeller blade was not in line with the guns. This invention was later adopted by all the fighting powers.

A QUEER CARD
"He" or "she" a queer card, is a common expression referring to an individual who exhibits peculiar traits.

This extraordinary usage in which "card" is synonymous with "person," is interesting to trace.

The phraseology derives from the various games of cards in which the term "a sure card" was applied to that play which was, if not certain to win, at any rate, safe. By extension, the phrase was subsequently applied to an individual, procedure or argument that could be depended upon.

Growing out of this application of "card" were many similar idioms, among others, "to play one's best card," "to produce one's ace," "to play one's last card," all in the same sense.

Out of the earliest appearances of the last expression is in "The Holy War," by Bunyan, published in 1682.

An individual connected with the street-cleaning department walks up to a hydrant, dragging a length of hose behind him, and, fitting a wrench to the cap, proceeds to unscrew it.

"Don't—please don't!" cries the youth anchored to the lamp post. "Don't do what?" asks the functionary, halting in astonishment. "Don't wind up this street any tighter. She's spinnin' round too fast as it is!"

EXPORTS OF FISH HIGHER

Canada's Domestic Consumption Also Increased Since First of Year

Canadians, as well as the rest of the world, are apparently eating more fish now than previously, according to Government statistical figures. Exports of fish and fish products from Canada in the first half of this year totaled $9,363,676, and went to sixty-six countries of the world. This was an increase of $856,000 over the corresponding period last year and more than $2,000,000 over the same period of 1933.

For the calendar year 1934, Canadian fishery exports totaled $22,150,952, as compared with $20,050,172 in 1933, and $18,408,666 in 1932. During these exports from domestic production figures, statisticians find that Canadians consumed Canadian fish to the value of $12,000,000 in 1934, and approximately $7,500,000 in both 1933 and 1932.

EXPORTS TO U.S.

Canada's most important customer is the United States, which takes most of the Dominion's shipments of fresh fish. Exports to the United States this year to date totaled $4,469,504, of which fresh fish accounted for $3,815,660. In the corresponding period last year the figure was $3,400,000. Exports to the United Kingdom totaled $1,889,123, mostly made up of canned fish, as compared with $1,723,493 in the first half of 1934. Exports to Australia have steadily increased from $457,222 in the first half of 1933 to $664,853 in 1934, and $570,096 this year to date. The British West Indies and other British colonies in the Caribbean imported Canadian fish, mostly dried and salted, to the value of $551,694 this year.

With production of Canadian fisheries last year valued at $34,121,971, of which $22,150,952 was exported, the value of this Canadian natural resource is very apparent. It is estimated that $3,394 Canadians earn their livelihood direct from the fisheries of the sea and inland lakes and rivers.

"HEY! COME BACK AND SEE YOURSELF START"

THAT is how a neighbor saluted me yesterday morning as I bounced along the walk past his door, approaching my office.

"Start? I started an hour and a half ago, seven miles away."

"Yes, you did not." (And he looked his disbelief.) "Why, it's only 7.30." But I had started at 6 a.m. to walk to my office seven miles away to arrive by 7.30 and I was arriving on time, July 24th, hot and humid. I had only to point to my sweat-soaked shirt to convince him. I walk those nearly seven miles each morning when in Toronto unless it rains. Toronto and ex-Torontonians will believe it when I say I walk from Westminster Hotel on Jarvis near Dundas Street, where I have resided for some months, to the head of Pacific Avenue in West Toronto. For years I have walked five miles each morning but I find it now a real delight to walk seven miles. Scores of early rising Torontonians see me, bareheaded, coat and vestless, shirt with short sleeves and rolled collar, bouncing along on Matthews Guild roadster-slim-type shoes, up Jarvis, to Bloor, to Dundas, to Pacific, to Vine and my office.

Occasionally, a fellow pedestrian essays to walk with me. He keeps up with me for a few blocks then finds an excuse to turn into a side street. The farthest any one has held out is five blocks. At my office I take a shower and more exercises. Am I tired after these long walks? No! I am ecstatic! I could easily turn and walk back and still feel ecstatic. My busy day has just begun and will not end before 7.30 to 9.30 p.m. and then I may, as I frequently do, walk back again, (almost always in cool weather). On holidays I often extend my walk around by "The Old Mill", adding another five miles.

Most persons think this is a remarkable accomplishment, at almost 78. Well, it is not. It is what everyone could easily do at that age by living, and especially feeding, rationally.

It is almost entirely a matter of blood condition, which can be toxic or non-toxic, vital or devitalized, normally fluid and easily circulated, or viscous (ropy) and circulated with difficulty and heart strain, depending upon whether the foods eaten build vital, non-toxic, alkaline and fluid blood or the other kind.

It is claimed 98% of our accustomed foods are the other kind, that build devitalized non-resistant bodies, while science says only 20% may be. That is why my youthful elasticity, flexibility, resilience and endurance of body and mind are considered remarkable only by comparison with bodies so built. I give thought to the selection of my foods. Others do not. They select, without thought, devitalized, devitalized and acid-forming foods and their Putting on a total score of 556 points, eleven more than the aggregate secured by revolver shots from the U.S.S. Salt Lake City, who finished place crack shots from the Victoria city police yesterday carried off the honors in the revolver team shoot at the Naval Barracks butts.

Third place in the event went to marksmen from H.M.C.S. Skeena, with a total of 538 points, and in fourth place, ten points lower, came the British Canadian Naval Barracks team. H.M.S. Danae, visiting British cruiser, finished last with a score of 482.

Members of the winning Victoria police team were Detective Inspector Jack McLean, Jack Rogers, Arthur Phillips and Miss M. W. Walker.

With the teams participating in four events, the competition was fairly keen throughout.

A shower of rain fell in the closing phases of the match.

bodies are the non-vital, non-resistant and non-resistant kind that such foods build. Surely it is time thinking people began to think rationally about their foods. I shall gladly mail to thinking people, free, my literature covering the foods I eat to build my type of vigorously healthy, and resistant, youthful body, upon request. Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub form a large part of my food intake, and the most important part. I could not have achieved my type of youthful, resistant body at almost 78 without them. Now, although Summer is waning, there will be still plenty of hot, humid days. My recommendation for these days is the above-named foods made into porridge and served off the ice with fruit jelly, honey or maple syrup and cream, and for a drink, alkalizing Kofy-Sub. But there are other foods that play an important part that the health seeker should know about. This knowledge is free. Surely worth writing about, address Robt. G. COMMUNITY HALL TO BE IMPROVED

Funds Raised by All-Sooke Day Enable Enlargements to Suit Growing Need

SOOKE, Aug. 15.—A general meeting of the Sooke Community Association was held recently in Sooke Hall. H. W. Goodrich, president, in the chair, when a financial report of the "All-Sooke Day" celebration on July 24 was given by F. Brown, secretary.

The sum of $940 was cleared and with the aid of the fund on hand from last year, the association has been able to purchase the old Sooke Hall and two lots adjoining.

The plans in project include the moving of the hall back from its present site, remodeling and enlarging to suit the requirements of the fast-growing community.

With the assurance of a great community spirit such as has been recently shown, operations for improvements, it is anticipated, will begin shortly.

The association has arranged for a bonfire and wienner roast for members on Saturday evening at Sooke River Flats, when funds will be further augmented.

LADYSMITH TAXES COMING IN WELL

Council Forwarding Grant to Hospital—Arranging to Extend Hours of Street Lighting

LADYSMITH, Aug. 15.—Collections in respect of general taxation for the current year compare favorably with those of former years, the City Council was assured at its regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

Traders' licences in hand were on a par with those of last year. The condition of dog licences, however, was very unsatisfactory. It was intimated that the police had matter in hand, and an early response from reluctant dog-owners was anticipated.

With the board of the General Hospital concurring in the terms of an agreement along the same lines as that in effect last year, the interim half-yearly grant will be forwarded by the city. The annual grant is $1,000, and covers the hospitalization of members of the fire brigade, as well as all city patients treated who would otherwise be a charge against the city on a per capita basis.

A system of all-night lighting will be established on First Avenue at least, and, meanwhile, the council will take under advisement the possibility of extending the hours of

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

NEOPHYTES LOVE TO FINESSE

One of the many differences between a good bridge player and the average beginner is that the neophyte loves to finesse, whereas the good player finesse only as a last resort. You have heard the story of the player who with thirteen top-card tricks at grand slam contract took a losing finesse and was unable to answer the polite inquiry of his partner as to whether he was trying to make an overtrick. There are hundreds of similar hands on the other side of the fence, resorting to every possible stratagem to avoid the necessity of guessing which way to finesse for a queen.

AVOIDING A GUESS

Anyone who looks at all four hands and finds it simple to make South spades on the North-South cards. It is a good example hand, however, because it shows how a resourceful declarer avoided the necessity of guessing the finesse.

AIM AT BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Sidney Businessmen Hear Report of Committee—Ernest Eve Speaks on Aviation

SIDNEY, Aug. 15.—At the meeting of the Sidney Businessmen's Association, held at the Avenue Cafe, Ernest Eve spoke on aviation and requirements for an airport.

In the absence of Everett Goddard, F. N. Wright gave a report for the fire protection committee. The fire truck is now in good order. Having been rebuilt by voluntary labor. Funds have been secured by contribution to buy a pump. As a quantity of hose is also required, it is hoped that sufficient funds will be donated to purchase this.

A move is being made to secure the Canadian National Railway right-of-way for highway purposes. As Sydney, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, is this year celebrating its 150th anniversary, greetings were sent from Sidney, B.C.

ATTACK PROBLEM OF TAX ARREARS

LADYSMITH, Aug. 15.—The City Council meeting on Wednesday evening, in the early part of the business, resolved itself into an informal committee to meet in conference with a committee of the school board.

The matter at issue affects the future allocation of collections in respect of arrears in school taxes, and was first raised by the board several months ago.

It was decided finally to refer the whole matter to a committee comprising E. W. Forward, J. D. Giovando and J. Lowrie. These will endeavor to approach the subject with the necessary unbiased viewpoint that will make possible a recommendation acceptable to the school board and the City Council.

WOMAN'S PLACE IN POLITICS

Sir,—Kindly give space for the following reply to an editorial in The Vancouver Province of the 3rd inst., referring to The Ottawa Journal's question and reply, "Women in Politics." The question being why women having the franchise literally do nothing about it. Had the answering been left to the women, their viewpoint would perhaps have awakened and enlightened many on this matter which fairly burns women up. Question—"Why only one woman in the Commons while few, if any, in Provincial Legislatures?" When women first became persons politically men had for generations been in control of organizations in party politics. This absolute control they were loath to surrender. Men's generosity in giving women equal franchise, after all, did not mean an honest chance for equal representation in government. No indeed! The inside workings of such a system could stand for the choice of a nominee is from the inner circles. There is the odd machinery slips a cog. It is public knowledge conversely figure little in the choice. Now do tell what chance for the name of a woman candidate ever getting past the women's organizations committee, such having no official power.

After much experience with a close-up view, the impression I get is organizing women separately has been a grave error as few, if any, women in such clubs are sufficiently informed on political matters to give enlightenment. True, occasionally, male M.P.s have addressed us, but seldom anything of an instructive nature was gained. It was usually the old story—how very satisfactory they were doing their job; the men thus never forgetting their early training of passing compliments apenty, thus leaving the impression this line was their principal stock in trade. This unfortunately is the result of men erroneously having formed the opinion that women could not comprehend political economics. Lack of such knowledge, I grant you, is very glaring in many women. There never can be any particular incentive for women to take a live interest till this unequal representation on all committees is changed.

The one occasion when women can be sure their service is acceptable is in election time when (votes count). The Journal's statement is that women do not care for details of politics. Why, Mr. Editor, we never get the chance of knowing about details. As for not caring about patronage and the control of same, only those who reap the benefits of such a system could stand for it. The Journal says women care not for the rough and tumble of the candidate ever getting past the women's
